Our Alma Mater

Students moved into the new Junior High on April 17, 1956.

In a new section of Taylor, Northside was ready for occupancy in September of 1955.

An addition to Taylor High was the runway between the main building and the gym, designed for rainy day use.

Dedication

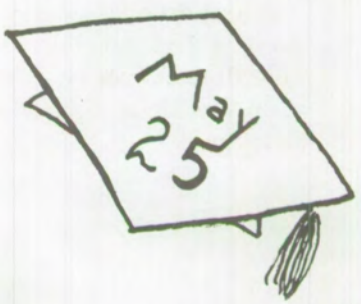

We, the staff of the 1956 Mallard, dedicate this edition of the annual to the moments we have to remember.

"When other nights and other days may find us gone our separate ways, we will have these MOMENTS TO REMEMBER." The first hot days of school... Band drills at night... Ranking eighth in AA State football... Georgetown victory and Homecoming... Building decorated for Christmas... Yelling at the basketball games... Senior Play... Dancing in a Winter Wonderland... Watching the Cotton Boll Relays ... Opening of the new Junior High... Bringing home ribbons from District Meet... For the Seniors, Kid Day and Senior Day... Finally finals, then Commencement ... "And the present disappears, we will have these MOMENTS TO REMEMBER."

Among the many accomplishments of the School Board this year, we shall remember the construction of the new Junior High and Music Buildings.

Extensive repairs have been made to the school plant--perhaps the most noticeable to us is the modernization of the Commercial Department.

Superintendent's Message

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I extend congratulations to the students and faculty for the development of a fine school spirit, friendliness, and a high type of democratic citizenship.

The habits, personal qualities and characteristics, as well as knowledge you are now developing, will help to lessen the problems that you will meet in later life.

May success and happiness be yours in the years to come.

Sincerely,

T. H. Johnson

Principal's Message

Dear Students:

Memories, like dew on a flower, shimmer brightly and then are inclined to fade away. So your high school memories will gradually recede before the bright sun of day to day living until they seem confused and unreal. However, things of beauty and fragility, such as memories, need to be preserved.

Here, in THE MALLARD, your memories are preserved for your lifetime. However insignificant and laughable your memories may some day appear to another generation, to you they will always depict the happy, carefree portions of your life--your high school days. God in his wisdom has devised a method of obliterating the distasteful and commemorating the happiness in our memories.

Very truly yours,

E. G. Osborn

Taylor High Song

These words mean more to Taylor High students because they know that they are truly original... Patricia Gossett, a graduate of 1942, and Jack Nowlin, former band director, are responsible for the words and music... On October 3, 1941, the song was introduced to the student body, and later that year, it became official when it was accepted by a student vote of 306 to 62.

Mallard Staff

Assistant Editor Carol Craft and Editor Kay Stern work side by side to produce a bigger and better annual.

Barbara Brezik, Business Manager Mary K. McConchie's assistant, helps her make final check on prospective advertisers.

Horace Finch, the artist, and his assistant, Charles Wilks, make preliminary sketches.

Photographer Buddy Holubec experiments with his assistant, Carroll Brill, in photographic techniques.

Most important of all is our sponsor, Mrs. Frances Lee. If it had not been for her constant guidance, you would not even have THE MALLARD.

Through Long Days of Labor and Nights Devoid of Ease

Disgustingly enough, stories don't just grow on newspaper pages. They have to be typed! Janet Frederick, Ann Smith and Bettie Jones take time out from their brilliant creating to smile sweetly. Soon headlines will have to be written, and copy will be sent to Merchants Press.

Photographer Buddy Holubec snaps Assistant Editor Nancy Patterson and Editor Joe Hairston, who are very industriously planning what stories should go in the next issue. They may be wondering who is going to get his pin.

Next comes the makeup of their spectacular tabloid. Anne Booth, Avva Dee Smith, and Sue Arledge seem to be equally enjoying their tasks. They won't look so pleasant when they start trying to make the stories fit.

Kay Stern, Mary Camp, and Mary K. McConchie beam happily over their stories and inches, while Wenceslaus Beyer wonders what happened to the things he wrote. As they admire the finished product, they remember all the work that went into making it.

GRADUATION

We Will Have These Moments to Remember —

"The day we tore the goal post down--" Caldwell game, September 16, initiated for the Ducks the scoreboard--the first winning score ever posted and the first victory march in a year.

"The noisy fun--" This night-before spirit at the Homecoming bonfire was a major factor in the 27-26 victory over the Ducks' greatest foes--the Georgetown Eagles.

THE FADS CAME AND WENT.

During football season on Fridays all the girls wore black and white to spur the Ducks on to victory.

Copying the girls' fad the boys decided it was time for them to get hep by observing National T-Shirt Day.

Honoring their mothers, the Ducks trounced the Rosebud Panthers 40-7 on October 28.

Janet Frederick

Student Council President John Swanson crowns Janet.

Queen candidates were: Shirley Bartz, Janet Frederick, Jan Harkins, Mary K. McConchie, Sharon Sims, Anne and Avva Dee Smith, and Kay Stern.

WAITING FOR RESULTS

TIME FINALLY CAME

"The Laughter We Were Glad to Share —"

The week began at noon on Monday when whistle blew and girls set out to snag their men in the Sadie Hawkins Race.

The race is on ---

Sadie Hawkins Week
Nov. 7-12

But everybody got caught. In the End

No one is overlooked.

"Tho' summer turns to winter--" The brief snow only lasted a few hours in November, but time between periods was spent like this.

Taylor's first Hot Rod Club was organized and dedicated to safety and hot rod lovers. Scott Conrad, the first president, led the active club during the year.

'Twas the Week Before Christmas

Keeping up the old traditions, the Green Jackets decorated the building and the tree outside the office.

Anne Smith and Mary K. McConchie won first place in the door contest sponsored annually by the Green Jackets.

Two clubs joined forces to stage the annual Christmas program. First, the choir delivered several numbers. . .

. . . followed by Speech Club members who performed in "Reindeer on the Roof."

Final minutes of the play found almost all the cast on the stage: Zschiesche, Hairston, Teltow, Smith, Bartz, Brackenridge, and Schlickeisen. Other performers were Finch and Cernosek.

State Degree Homemaker

BETTY KRUEGER

"More Than Meets the Eye"

Seniors practice earnestly as February 17 nears.

Patterson and Harkins sound off to Schlickeisen, who evidently hasn't learned his lines.

Luedtke seems to be doubting Booth's word as Patterson stands by and watches.

Cast and Mrs. Salm relax after play at Patterson party.

D.E. Conventions

Taylor's Micky Walker flanked by Texas delegates enroute to National D.E. Convention in St. Louis.

Verlyn Heckmann and Micky displaying Verlyn's plaque won at Texas Convention for "Business Interviewing."

Winter Wonderland

Junior-Senior Prom Royalty: Bobby Rhoades, Prince Icicle; Sharon Sims, Queen of Snow; Marvin Lenz, King of Snow; Lorene Hatterman, Princess Snowflake.

Who could ever guess that this -- could turn into this?

Spring Brings Track and Banquets

Duck trackmen hosted the Second Annual Cotton Boll Relays on March 10.

Regional contestants: McConchie, Pairett, Hertz, Mucha, Griffith, Harkins, Beyer, Psencik, Luedtke, Mueller, Seigmund, Moehnke, Swanson, Baker, Novosad, Gensler, Braun, Booth, Walker, Stiba, Silva, McAlpine, Wilks, Holubec.

The Prizes

At the end of his high school athletic days, Jack Baker signs a four year football contract with S.M.U.

Anne Booth, Nancy Patterson, and Kay Stern were winners of the V.F.W. "America--Beacon of Hope" theme contest.

Eugene Pairett accepts his football scholarship to Texas A&M at the awards assembly.

Journalism Awards

Joe Hairston, COTTON BOLL editor, gets the ILPC's Award of Distinguished Merit for the staff. Mary Katherine McConchie is awarded an ILPC medal for second place in Division III news writing at the University of Texas journalism day.

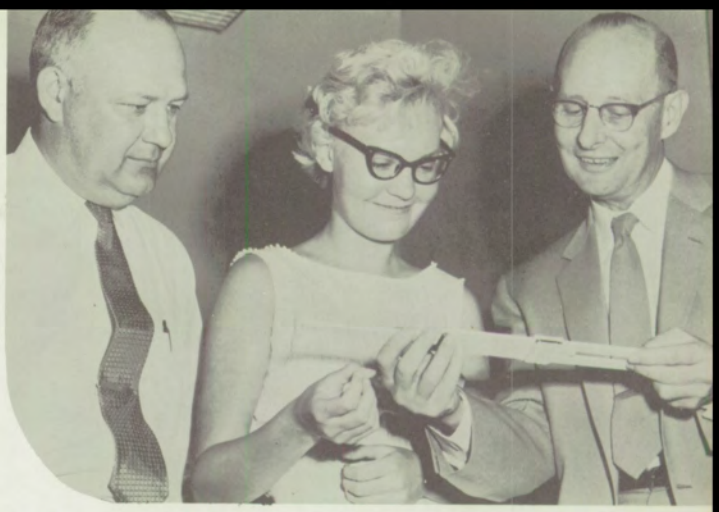

Carol Craft receives her certificate to Girls' Bluebonnet State in Austin during June.

We Won

Mr. Osborn presents Nancy Patterson with a scholarship to the Texas School of Drama for the summer of 1956.

Jane Zschiesche, Taylor's Outstanding Scientist, views her slide rule presented to her by ALCOA.

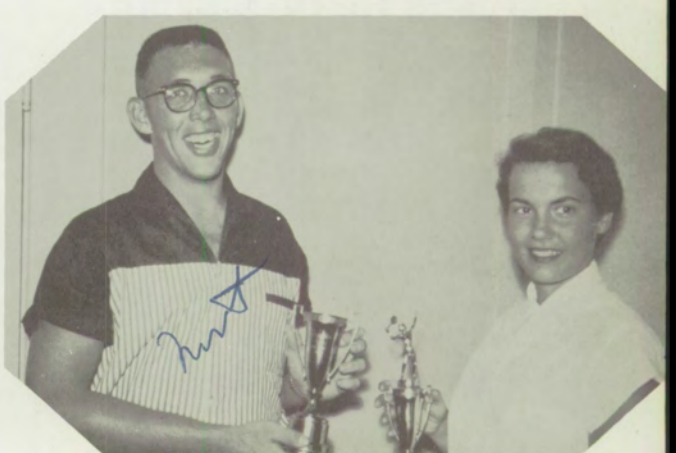

Winner of the D.A.R. Award and an $800 scholarship to T.C.U. was Kay Stern.

Many of Taylor High's Future Homemakers received their Junior and Chapter Degrees.

Lettermen with 50 points from the Speech Club got either pins or sweaters.

Outstanding tennis players of 1955-56 were Anne Booth and Jack Baker, who won the Patterson Cups.

Kid Day Begins

Lunching under the trees.

"London Bridge is falling down."

Among our moments to remember was Kid Day on April 4. Teddy bears and water guns were the favorite toys. Bashful little girls hid behind giant lollipops, skinned knees showing from under their short skirts. At noon the school was overflowing with Cub Scouts and cowboys.

Leaving Taylor at 8:30.

"Red Rover, Red Rover!"

On May 14, the Seniors loaded on buses and headed for New Braunfels for a day of rowing, swimming, bicycling, eating, and dancing.

Joan Welch gazes into the Crystal Ball as Anne Booth and Mary Camp predict the future of the Class of '56.

Following the Prophecy, Jan Harkins sings...
"For all we know, we may never meet again..."

Kay Stern, Buddy Holubec, and Vannette Stiba read the Last Will and Testament.

President Edmund Urbanek presents the Senior Torch to Junior President Dorothy Shepperson.

. . . May Find Us Gone Our Separate Ways

Dr. Finch reminds Seniors of essential qualities.

Class valedictorian, Mary K. McConchie receives scholarships and trophy.

Valedictorian

Salutatorian

Jane Zschiesche, salutatorian of Class of 1956, is also presented with a trophy and scholarships.

Edmund Urbanek, the highest ranking boy, receives a scholarship to any Church-Related School.

Betty Krueger won the Elmore Torn award for being the outstanding rural student.

For the first time in history the PTA's Worthy Citizen Award went to two Seniors--Kay Stern and Mary K. McConchie.

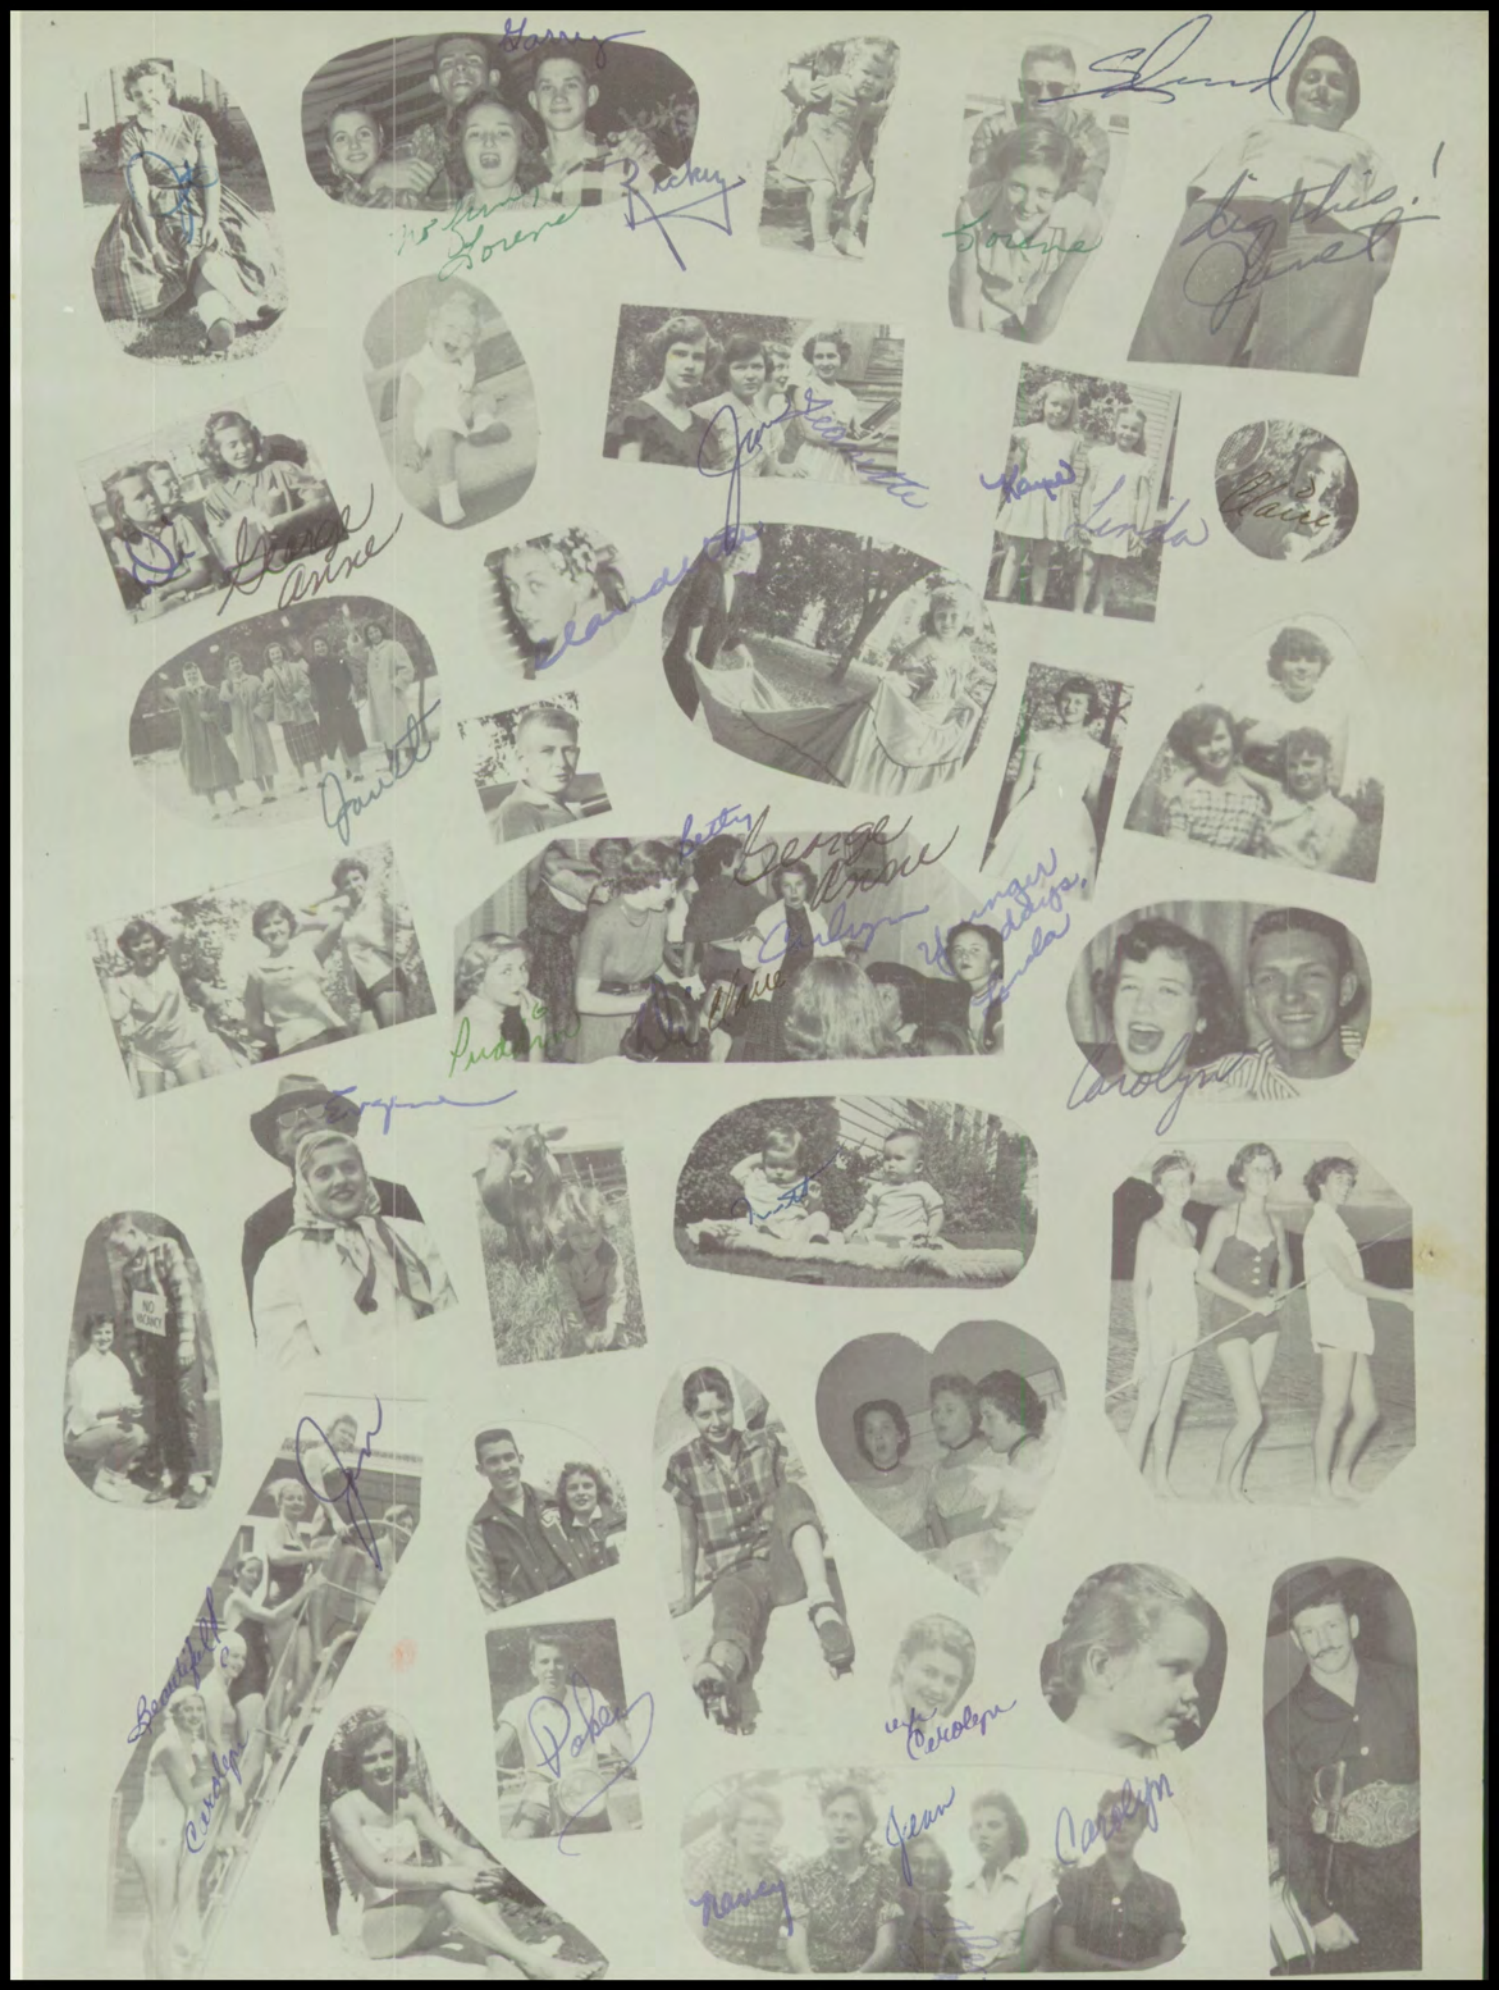

Virginia Fritz is awarded the A.M. House watch.

Margie Schoener and Bobby Limmer receive American Legion Eighth Grade Award.
