MALLARD

1971

Our lives are divided into distinct phases which can be likened to the seasonal changes of the year. The spring of our lives is similar to our childhood, while the summer represents our maturing into young adulthood. We are preparing now for the fall and winter in which we will continue to grow mentally and to learn from experience.

The MALLARD staff decided to break with tradition and arrange the 1971 MALLARD in a different way with a new format. Since the stages of our lives may be compared to the seasons, the events of the 1970-1971 school year have been arranged as they happened at Taylor High School during the year. Therefore, the 1971 MALLARD is a true picture record about one year of the many years in our lives.

Student Life

Summer

For the first year students started school during the last week of August so they had to prepare early to get back into the swing of things. The summer months were spent in various activities which included football practice, Hi-Stepper work-outs, and girls softball. Students of THS had a good time during the summer while they looked forward to the coming school year and all its activities.

The Taylor Hi-Steppers marched in the annual rodeo parade.

Mr. Whitlow proudly displayed the 2nd place trophy won by the twirlers in the state contest.

Football shoes had to be issued before summer practice could begin.

The winning score was safe at home in the girls' softball tournament.

Mrs. Puryear and Mrs. Quebe began preparations for the coming school year.

The Williamson County Sheriff's Posse led the rodeo parade.

A solid hit by a Taylor All-Star scored a run.

Students Register For

Students and faculty both had a busy day during registration.

Students waited in line while teachers were busy handing out schedules.

After some conversation they were then directed to the office.

After another long wait students were given locks and their locker numbers.

Now all that stood in the students' way was a matter of a few days.

"John Hancock, Huh?"

"I didn't sign up for basket weaving."

Mrs. Walker has a big year.

1970-71 School Year

"What do you mean, go back to the end of the line?"

"If you are Englebert Humperdinck, I am the Queen of Spain."

Students eagerly await the first day of school.

Mallard Lays Golden Egg

With the walls of the student center draped in green and gold, the MALLARD held it's first yearbook party. The green symbolized the traditional color of the MALLARD and gold its new look.

People, young and old, came to pick up their '71 gold covered MALLARD'S.

After the yearbooks were received everyone passed their books around to be signed while music played in the background.

Students gazed between the covers of the yearbook in search of a glimpse of their picture in the MALLARD.

The yearbook party was a first in our new high school.

It was a small step for Taylor High and a giant leap for the MALLARD.

"These church bazaars just kill me."

"Are you sure this isn't the zoo?"

"Too late Paul, I've already found that picture."

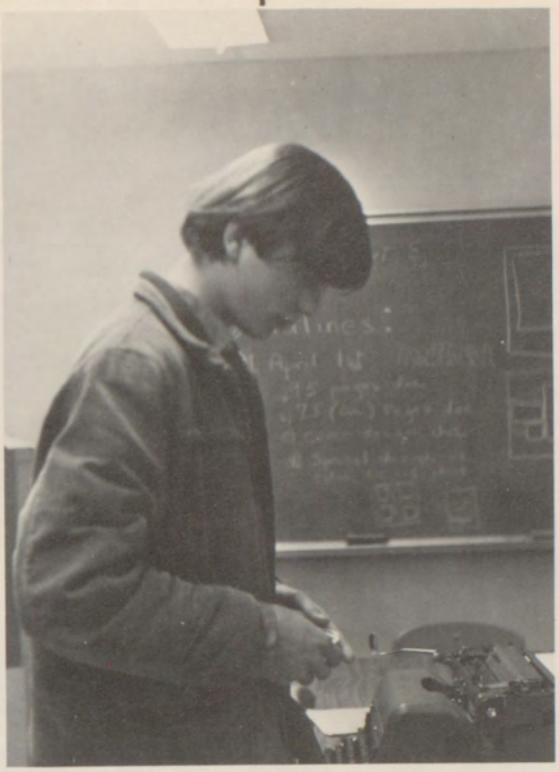

"They said they wouldn't print that."

Scenes Around Campus

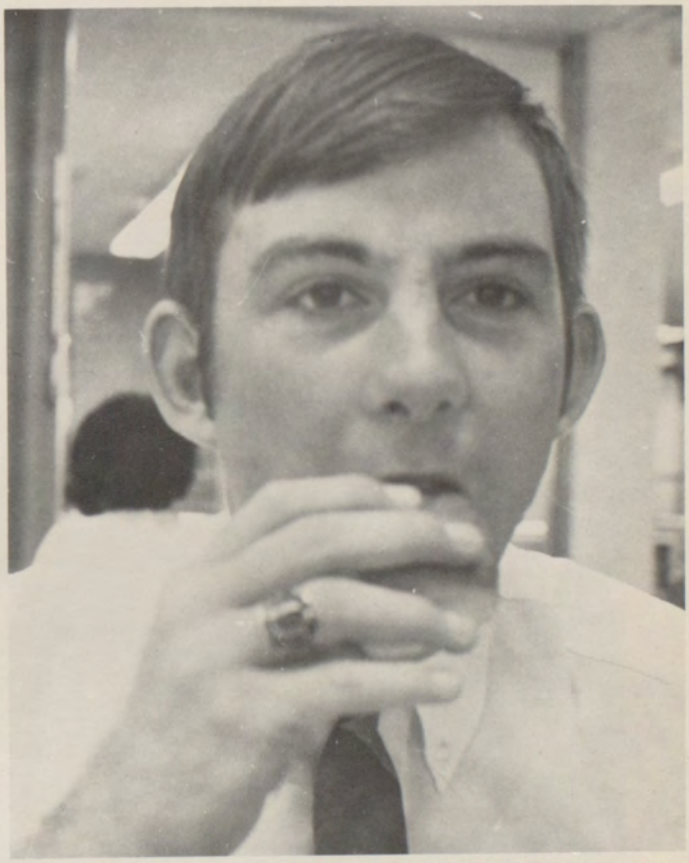

PEACE listened attentively to president James Rowland at its organization meeting.

Alan Debus assisted the MALLARD staff by taking pictures and giving valuable advice.

They say he's Carlos Santanna's brother.

As King Midas always said, "My touch is killing me!"

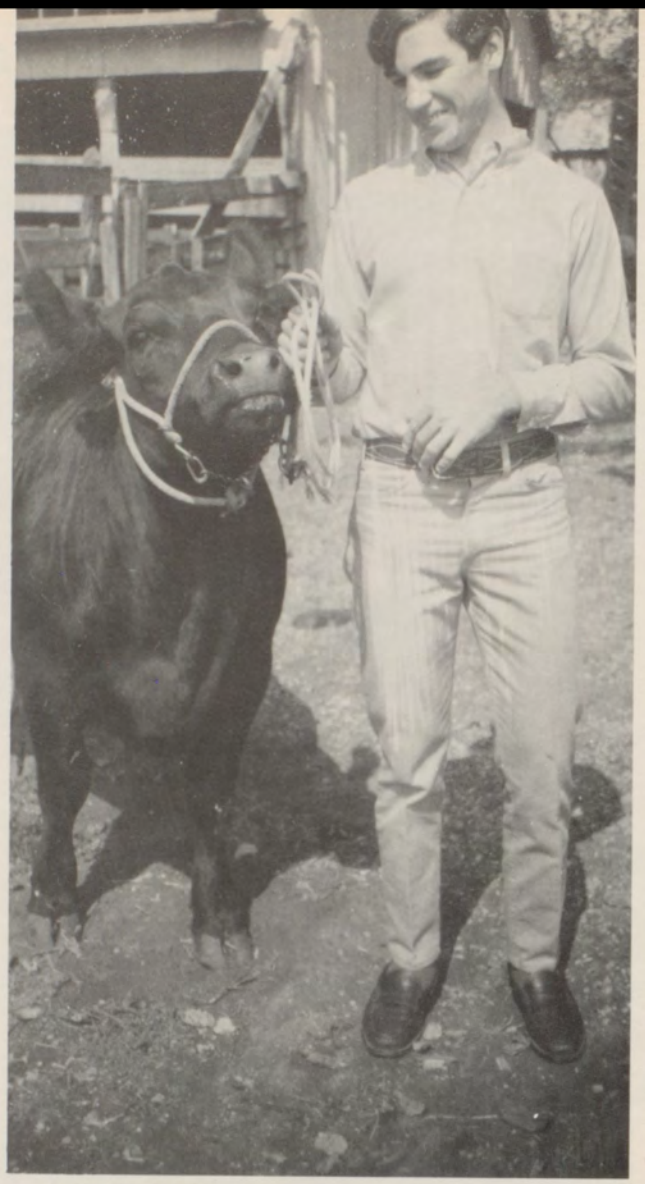

Words of deep wisdom like the Stygian darkness flow from Lucy's mouth.

Fall

Fall was a hectic time of the year for THS students as they attended club meetings and football games. Street pep rallies and a ag show also highlighted the fall season. With all these activities fall was a busy time for all students.

Mrs. Ella Juergens happily received a farewell gift from her fellow teachers.

Rudy displayed his stock show entry with pride.

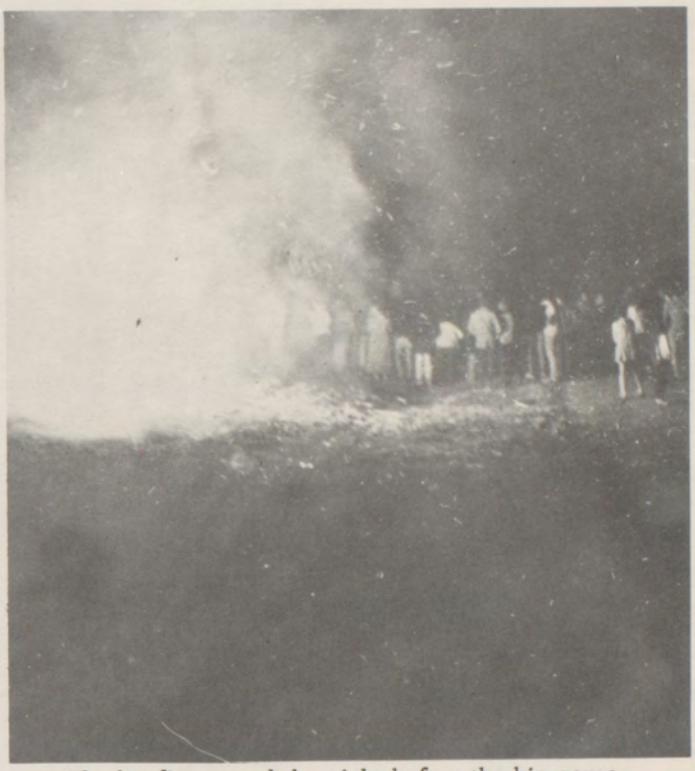

Main Street was crowded with enthusiastic fans who gathered to cheer the Ducks on to victory.

Greg Buzan concentrated on an early season drill.

THS student body was urged to support the Ducks.

The bonfire roared the night before the big game.

Vickie Balusek worked toward her state homemaking degree at a coffee held in honor of the teachers.

Pep Rallies Boosted With Spirit Award

This years' pep rallies were highlighted with an attempt by the cheerleaders to boost spirit by awarding different classes with a spirit award. The award was a green and white football with stars on it. The judges, teachers who were picked by the cheerleaders, were unknown to the student body. The class that showed the most spirit received the award in the pep rally.

Homecoming Queen

The 1970-71 Homecoming Queen, Elaine Jackson, was elected by a popular voting system. After the Student Council selected three senior girls, the student body nominated six more senior girls in an assembly. The girls were required to be seniors and to have at least a B average. Elaine was a member of Future Teachers and the Concert Choir. She was also treasurer of the Library Club. Nominees were Pat Schirpik, Carol Talasek, Shary Rain, Romona Kubacek, Jo Anne Tinsley, Kaye Teichelman, Gail Bergstrom, and Shelley Wilson.

The theme for this years Homecoming Assembly was "You've Come a Long Way Exes."

To start off the program the Chrystelles sang a selection from each decade starting with 1910. Skits representing past years were presented by THS students. One main act was the Women's Liberation Movement of the 50's and 70's.

The audience enjoyed a theater skit and a review of popular dances throughout the years. An award for the best sign was presented to the sophomore class. After the assembly an enthusiastic homecoming pep rally was held in the auditorium.

Winter

Coats, red noses, basketball, volleyball, and Christmas spirit were all part of the scene at THS during the winter season. The students at THS were all kept busy with the many activities going on. Among some of the highlights of the season were the Varsity football team receiving their jackets, exciting basketball and volleyball games, and the welcomed Christmas Holidays.

Council Sponsors Powder Puff

The money-making project of the Student Council was the Powder Puff football game. The game was held on a cold Friday, December 11. The sophomores who played the freshmen in the first game won. The second game was between the juniors and sophomores.

Between the games freshman, Leon Sanders was crowned 1970-71 Powder Puff Football Queen. Runners-up were: junior Ray Carmona and sophomore Shannon Sutton.

Spring

Spring at Taylor High School is one of the busiest times of the year. During this season baseball, tennis, and track activities get underway. In March the One-Act play entered the District contest with "Where The Cross Was Made." Most clubs have their annual banquets in the spring which everyone enjoys. The seniors always have fun presenting the Senior Assembly, and many students receive honors at the annual Awards Assembly which was held at night this year for the first time. The spring activities are always highlighted by the Commencement Exercises.

Ducks Finish Second At Relays

In Taylor's annual Cottonboll Relays the Duck track team easily took second place. Taylor scored 64 points behind Brenham's 101. In the Relays Jeff Janke set a new record in the 330-yard hurdles with a time of 40.1. All of the Duck tracksters added much to the success of the team and should be praised for their hard work.

One Act Play Cast Presents

"Where the Cross Is Made" a serious drama by Eugene O'Neill was staged by this year's one act play cast at Theatromania and also entered district competition. The cast members were made up of Cary Prikryl as Nat Bartlett, Tina Stone as Sue Bartlett, Mark Krueger as Captain Bartlett, Doug Benad as Dr. Higgins; James Wolbrueck, Duane Stolle, and Sammy Ross played the three ghosts. Fred Switzer was the alternate ready to step in if and when he was needed. Make up crew was made up of Kristi Rose and Donna Schroeder. Diana Walker served as stage manager while James worked with the lights when not on stage. Cary received All-Star Cast honors with his performance of Nat Bartlett.

Awards Assembly Recognizes

For the first time in THS history, the awards assembly was moved from school hours to night time. This change was made so that more of the parents could attend.

Students were recognized for their outstanding achievements and their potential value to society.

Jeff Janke and Kaye Teichelmann were recipients of the Danforth Award which consists of a certificate and a copy of the book I Dare You. Martha Miller received the Balfour Award which recognized her as the most outstanding senior in the class of 1971.

Shary Wheeless was given the A.M. House Award, an annual award which goes to the student at Taylor High with the highest average. For her achievements, Shary was awarded a Bulova watch.

Seniors maintaining an average of at least ninety were recognized as honor graduates at baccalaureate and commencement.

Outstanding Students

Danny Volek, Debra Benskin, Juanita Kieschnick, Debby Krenek, and Phyllis Law were awarded the VFW Flag Award.

Jeff Janke was recognized at the assembly for participating at the State Track Meet in three events.

These students, each of whom maintained an average of at least 93, were recipients of the Academic Award.

Nancy Lantzsch proudly accepts the FBLA scholarship.

Valedictorian — 1971

Although Kaye has been active in every phase of THS school life, she was able to maintain a 96 grade average, which won her the honor of 1971 Valedictorian.

Being elected Most Scholarly four years, receiving the 1970 A. M. House Award, and earning the 1968 Latin I Award and three academic awards are all examples of her academic ability. Kaye was this year's recipient of the Danforth Award and was Taylor's Junior Miss. A Distinguished Service award was given to Kaye for her outstanding work as District XIII TFTA president.

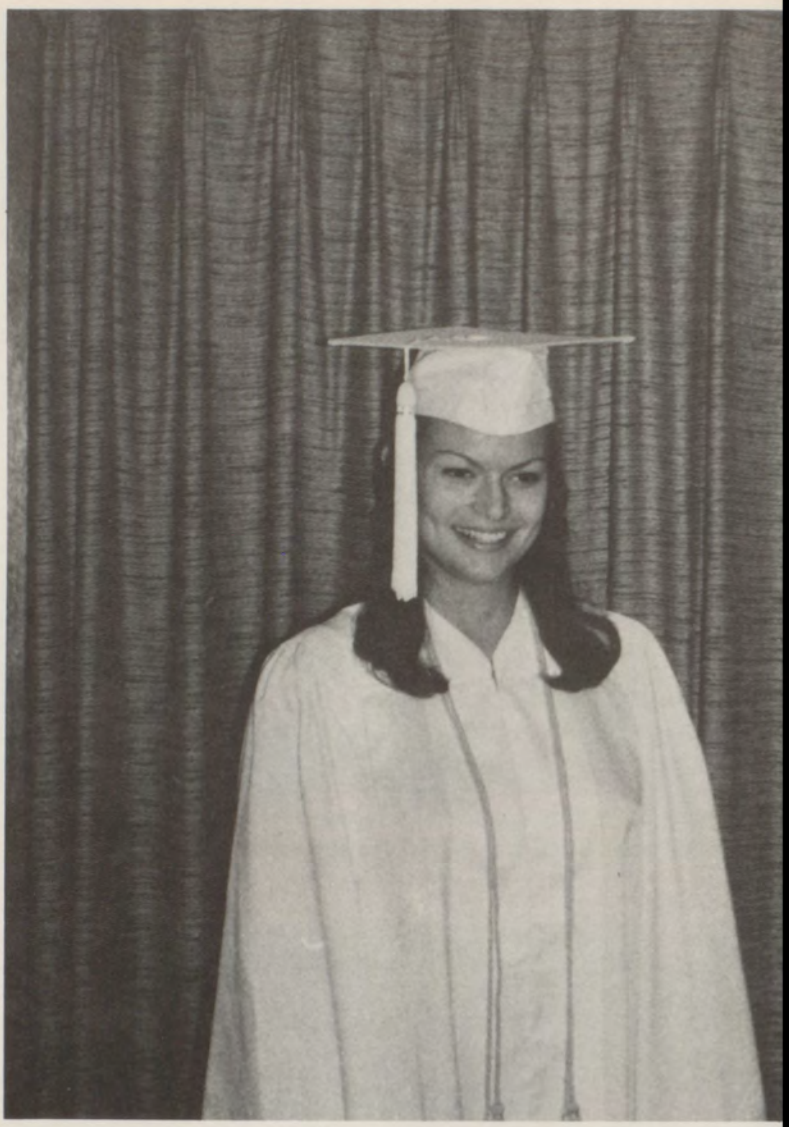

Besides being editor of the MALLARD, Kaye was first lieutenant of the Hi-Steppers, a member of the National Honor Society, Student Council, the Student Advisory Committee, and as a member of the tennis team she won district in girls doubles and singles.

Kaye relaxed after winning first in District XIII girls doubles.

Kaye, TFTA District president, presided over the District XIII convention.

Susan Kaye Teichelman

As expert at the piano as she is in the classroom, Kaye played one of her favorite selections.

Salutatorian — 1971

Jo Lynne Chambers

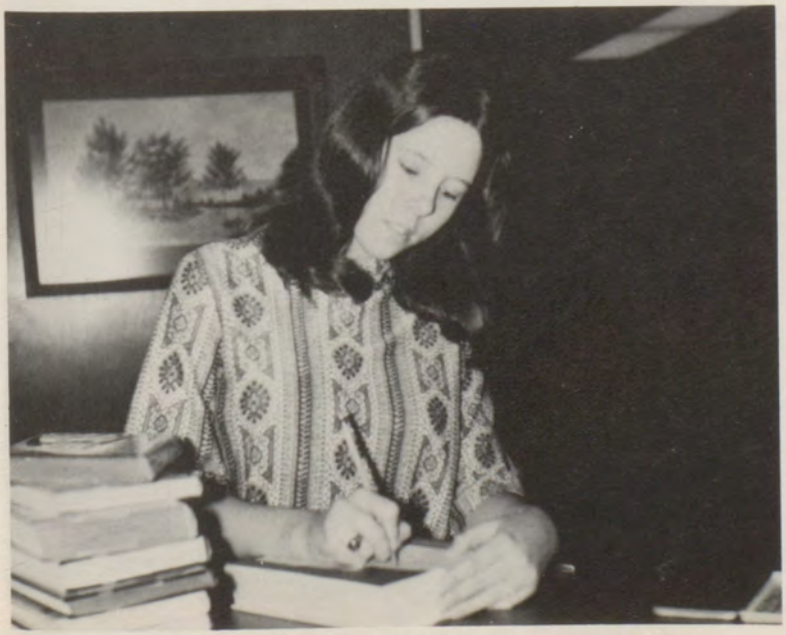

As salutatorian of the 1971 graduating class, Jo had a four year average of 94.68. Proving her scholastic ability, she was awarded an academic award for three years. Although she maintained her good grades, she still managed to be busy with extracurricular activities.

Jo contributed her talents and energy to the MALLARD. During her junior year she was staff artist, and as a senior she served as business manager. She devoted many extra hours to work on the MALLARD.

Although Jo worked in the city library as an aide, she found time to be active in various school organizations. She was a member of the Student Council, FHA, and On Stage '69. Jo served as secretary of the National Honor Society her senior year. In this position she was responsible for the minutes of the club. She also straightened the files and brought the scrapbook up to date.

Jo worked diligently on the NHS scrapbook as part of her duties as secretary.

As the city library aide, Jo learned many phases of library science.

Taking advantage of one of her many talents, Jo enjoyed sketching in the springtime.

Favorites

The student body of Taylor High School throughout the year elects outstanding students to represent them in many different ways. Among the honors to which a student can be elected or chosen are class favorites and Who's Who. Class Favorites are elected by popular vote of the students, and Who's Who are chosen by the faculty. Both elections are conducted by the MALLARD staff. Class favorites are announced in the Cotton Boll where as Who's Who is kept secret until the MALLARD is distributed. It is both and honor and a privilege to receive one of these titles.

Doug Reeves, Tommy Garner, and Doug Benad, Mallard photographers, discuss printing some of the favorite's pictures.

Who's Who 1971

In order to recognize some of Taylor High School's devoted and hard working students who have given of themselves to better school organizations and activities the MALLARD would like to dedicate the next four pages to the 1971 Who's Who.

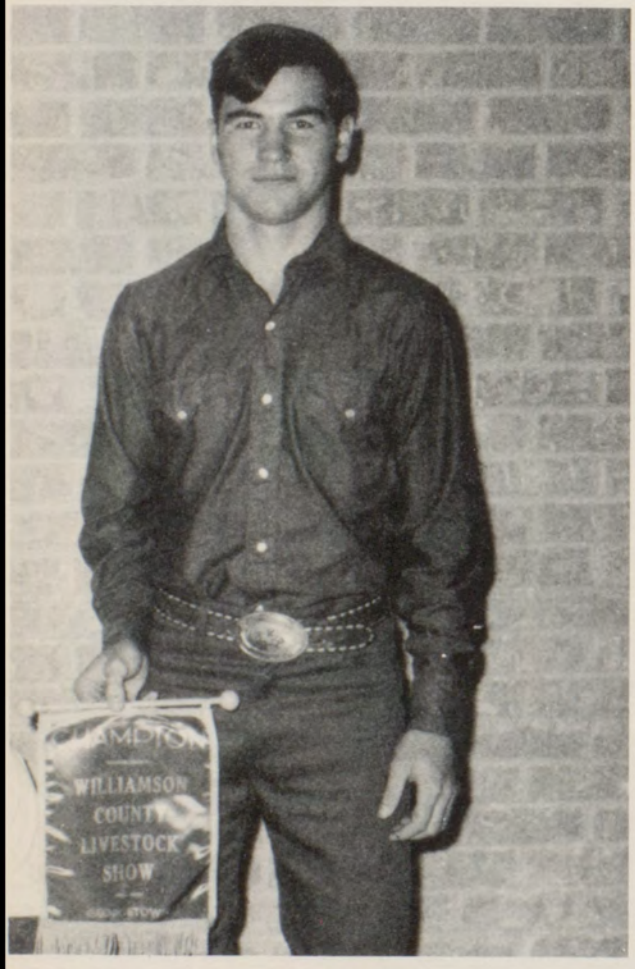

Ten students have been awarded this honor. The teachers selected them on the basis of dependability, cooperativeness, participation in class and school activities, and their willingness to work.

Our congratulations go to Moppy Miller, Rhonda Psencik, Steven Suchomel, Rudy Dana, Kaye Teichleman, Suzanne Klattenhoff, Jalane Wade, Sam Ross, Mike Kasper, and Shirly Schlinke.

RHONDA PSENCIK

Active in many aspects of Taylor High School life, Rhonda is very deserving of the honor of being chosen to Who's Who for 1971. Rhonda is a member of DECA and is very active in that club. This year she was elected to the position of reporter for the state in DECA. Serving as the editor for the Cotton Boll, Rhonda is a very good journalist. This year she advanced to Regional competition in Corpus Christi. Rhonda is always on the honor roll and was an honor graduate.

RUDY DANA

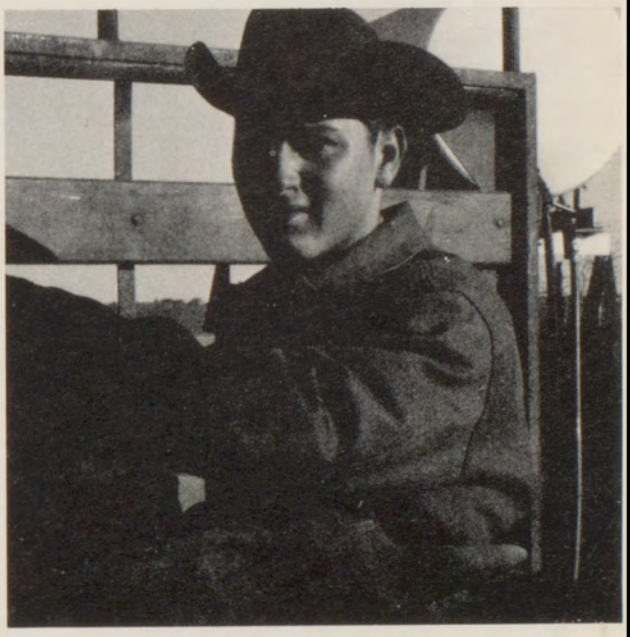

Rudy, an outstanding student of vocational agriculture as well as others, is also very deserving of the honor of being chosen to Who's Who. Rudy, a senior this year, displayed his talents in many ways. As a member of the Future Farmers of America Rudy was known for his prize winning swine and cattle. Rudy has always been very active in vocational agriculture. Rudy is a reporter for the Cotton Boll and is noted for his enjoyable poems. Always ready to work, Rudy was chosen by the faculty as an outstanding student recognizable for Who's Who.

President - Dean Corbett
Vice President - Bill Glendening
Secretary - Patricia Jansky
Treasurer - Steve Parker

During their first year in high school the 1971 freshmen proved to be very much a part of school life by winning two out of three spirit awards and also by winning the Cotton Boll Relays Queen competition. Many freshmen participated in UIL events with Syrisse Seale placing at state in typing.

Four freshmen received the honor of being named to the Intermediate All Regional Band.

Dean Corbett, Patricia Jansky, Steve Parker, and Bill Glendening.

Taylor School Board '70-'71

The Taylor school board is composed of capable and devoted men who are interested in our school's welfare. Their service and hard work has added greatly to THS throughout the years.

Mr. Leon Bohls acted as the board's vice-chairman for this year.

Dr. S. W. Lehmberg served as chairman of the school board for 1970-71.

As secretary of the 1970-71 school board, T. W. Holmstrom worked diligently for THS.

Mr. T. F. Pierce, having been a long time member of the board, has contributed much to our school administration.

Owner of Reichenbach's Grocery Store, Mr. Wilbur Reichenbach is a diligent worker of the school board.

Mr. Fred Switzer, director of Taylor's Radio Station KTAE, has great interest in our school system.

Dr. Daniel devotes much time and attention to our school's needs.

Busy Schedule For Taylor

MR. JOE SCRIVNER - SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

The 1970-1971 School Year has been a significant milestone in the educational progress of the Taylor School System. During this year an intensive self-evaluation study of the educational program has been made involving teachers, students, and parents. This evaluation will permit the faculty, administration, and Board of Education to set goals for future development in order of their priorities. From this evaluation the obvious need for a comprehensive type educational program evolved.

Throughout the system this year new programs were initiated. Some of these are: a new "Open Spaces" team teaching approach at West End and Twelfth Street Schools, the introduction of the laboratory approach to instruction in the Middle Schools, the Shift of Emphasis Program has been initiated in Special Education and many special programs to meet special needs of students have been formulated.

High Administrators 1970-71

Taylor High School principal, Mr. Howard Oliphint, participated in many activities and promoted many new programs during 1970-71. Along with several teachers, Mr. Oliphint attended a three day workshop sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, representing the Forty-seventh Annual Texas Association of Secondary School Principal's Conference. Mr. Oliphint served on the Activity Sub-Committee of the T.S.S.P. which determines what school activities are to be allowed, and presented, to the school board, amendments concerning the dress code, married students, and drug abuse.

Mr. Ross Baldwin, Taylor High School Assistant Principal and Director of Curriculum and Instruction, was also an active administrator during the 1970-71 school year. He was the chairman of the Secondary Committee for In-Service Program sponsored by the Southern Association Study Committee Organization as well as a member of the Central Steering Committee for In-Service Program sponsored by the Southern Association Study Committee Organization. He attended the Texas Association of Secondary School Principal's State Convention. He also attended the Assistant Principal's Annual workshop of the T.A.S.S.P. Association.

Organizations

Students of Taylor High School devoted much work and energy to the activities of the many clubs and organizations. The wide range of projects included powderpuff games, banquets, litter campaigns, and conventions. Taylor High School was made a better school through the involvement of students in organizations.

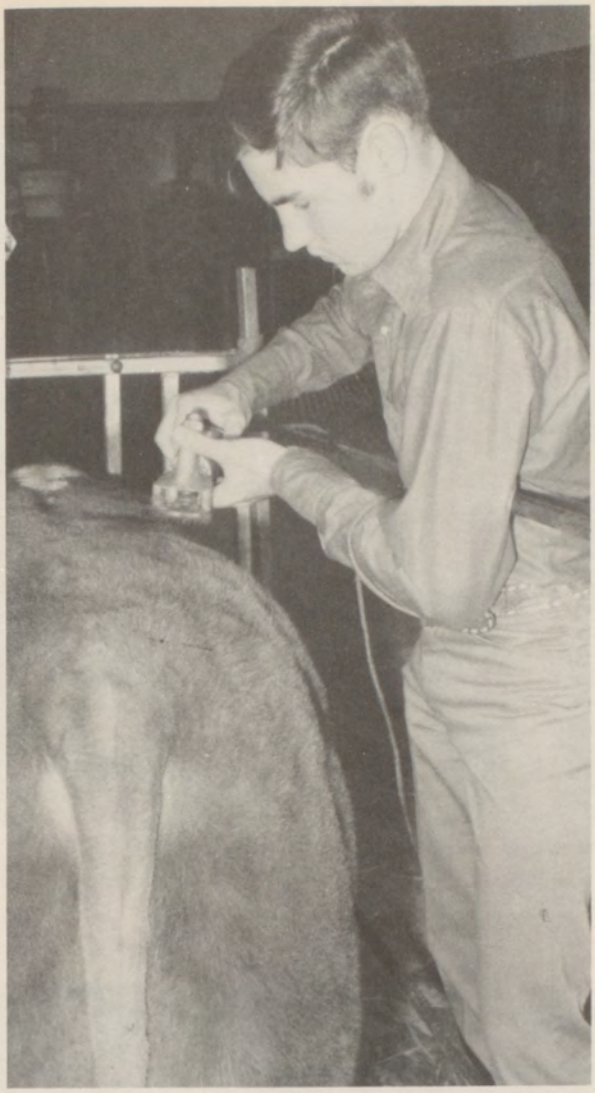

DECA students learned the skills of salesmanship.

While learning important building skills, Bill Duffy lended a hand in the Building Trades project.

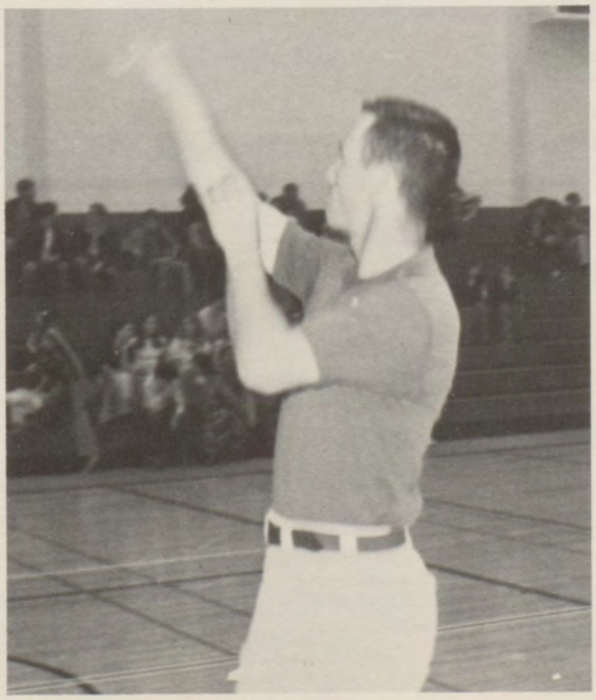

THS Future Homemakers dedicated a welcome sign on the high school grounds.

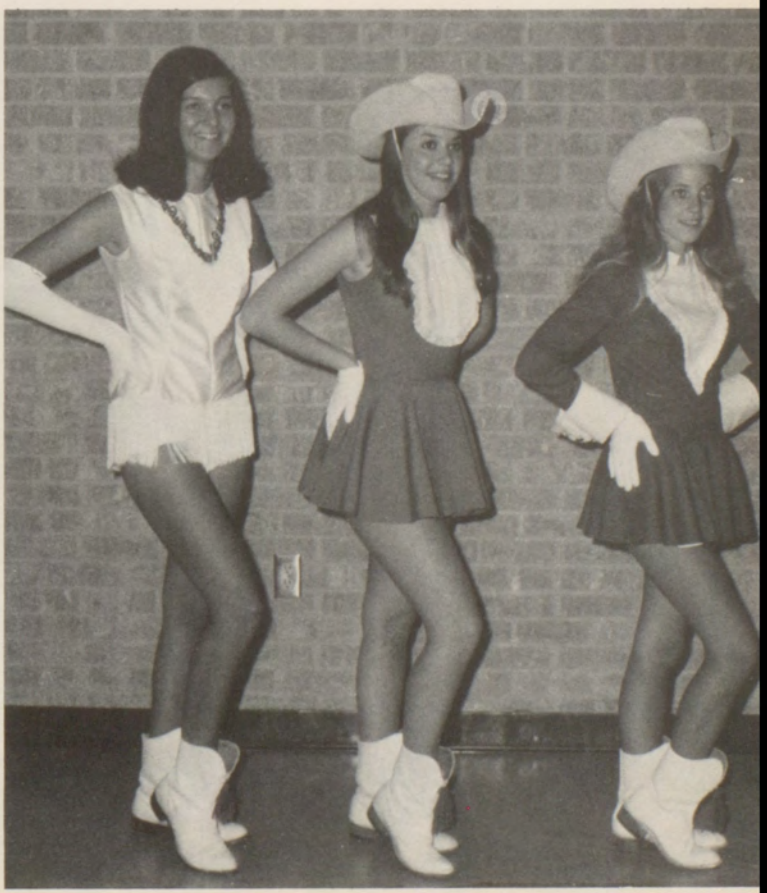

Rudy Dana prepared entry in the livestock show.

The pep squad boosted Duck spirit by making victory signs for every game.

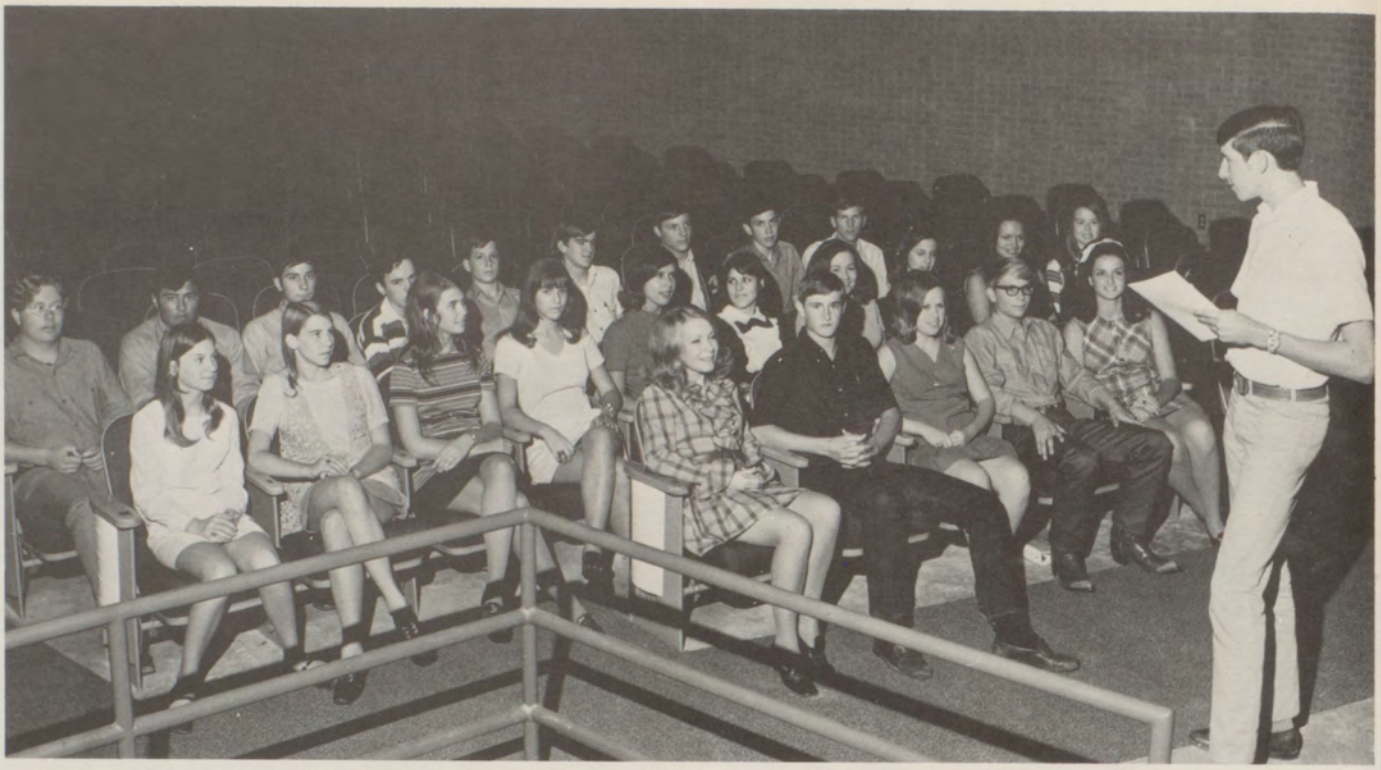

The coaches defeated the senior basketball players in a game sponsored by the Student Council.

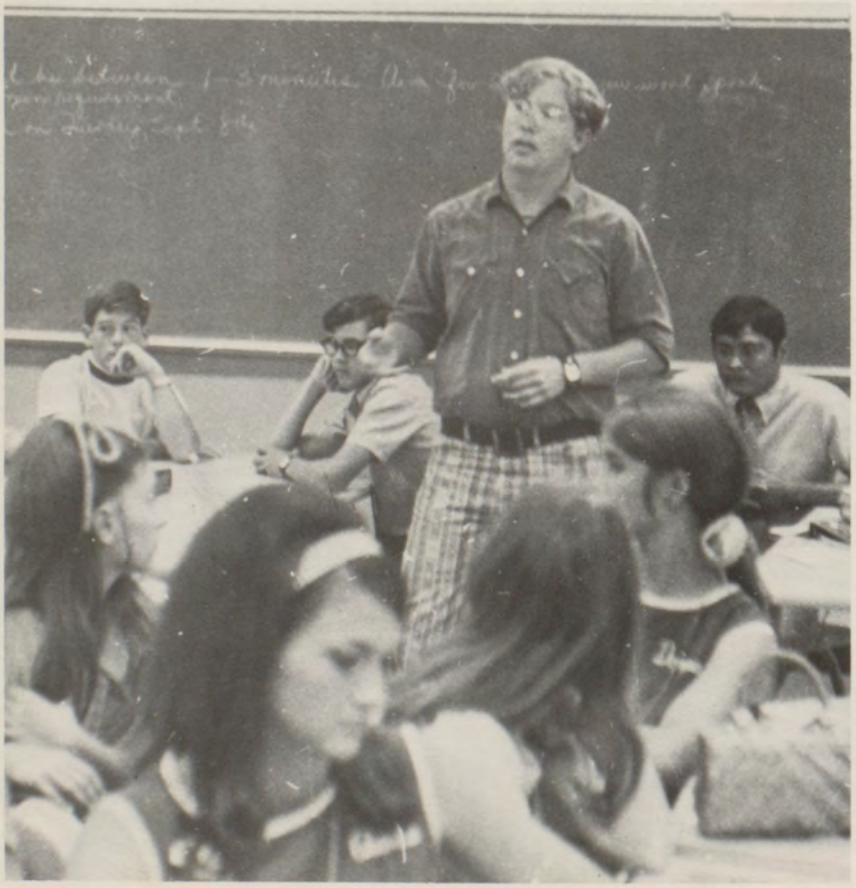

Linda Mundkowshy, Gillian Conoley, and Martha Johnson proudly displayed the three Hi-Stepper uniforms.

 Ronnie Campbell discussed another vital issue in a Student Council meeting.

Randy Bohls welcomed exes to Homecoming Day.

Student Problems

Sophomores took part in the lively debate.

The entire year of activities of the Student Council led up to the granting of a scholarship for a deserving senior. Any senior planning to continue his education in some field could apply for the scholarship. The Student Council sponsored money-making projects to make this scholarship possible. A powderpuff game between the girls of the different classes and a basketball game between the senior players and the coaches were the main attractions of the year. The officers, senior, and junior members were appointed to positions as city officials and ran the city for a day in November. Working for the design and erection of a sign for the high school, the Council tried to interest the other clubs in helping. The most outstanding project was homecoming with the theme, "You've Come a Long Way, Exes." This included locating and inviting the exes of '50, planning activities that involved clubs and classes, producing the assembly, and hosting the football game.

The Student Council officers were Randy Bohls, Vice-President; Jeff Janke, President; and Moppy Miller, Secretary-Treasurer.

Issues were brought before the Council by the sponsors, Mrs. Frances Lee and Mr. Robert Malone.

Hard To Build Duck Spirit

Junior - CHARLA WELCH

Junior - DONNA GRABBS

Junior - SHARY WHEELESS

With enthusiasm, hard work, and devotion the THS cheerleaders helped to make 1970-71 a great year for the Ducks. Moppy, Shari, Pat, Charla, Donna, and Shary returned from SMU cheerleading camp with lots of new ideas and eagerness to get to work, and that's just what they did. After teaching the Hi-Steppers and Green Jackets the new yells and chants, they made signs for the student center, football field, and gym. Colorful locker signs gave an extra bit of encouragement to all THS athletes.

Spirit of the Green was boosted to an all time high when the cheerleaders introduced the Spirit Award. The freshman and juniors both received a green and white football for having the most spirit. These six girls have done a great job supporting the Ducks.

Houston Convention Highlights

Under the leadership of two excellent advisors, Mrs. Joyce Quebe and Mrs. Naomi Pasemann, the FTA of THS accomplished many things. Mrs. Quebe took over the sponsorship after Mrs. Pasemann left to become the counselor at Middle School.

The Taylor FTA worked hard before the District XIII convention in Gonzales to prepare campaigns for Ginger Ripple, a candidate for District recording secretary, and Sammy Ross, a candidate for state office. Ginger and Sammy both won their elections easily due to the support of the club. Everyone doubled their efforts to make Sammy's "Watermelon Boy" campaign a success. Next year the FTA will be strengthened by having Sammy as state vice-president.

For Scholarships

Miss Ruth Mantor, NHS sponsor, has devoted much time, energy, and effort to the club's projects and activities.

The National Honor Society is an organization whose members are chosen solely by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. These qualities are stressed and NHS members strive to improve themselves in these areas. In 1970-71, the National Honor Society worked diligently in many activities. A clean-up campaign was their October project in which they cleared away the litter on the school grounds after the PTA carnival. In preparation for traditional scholarship awards, NHS continued a pen sale from last year into the fall of this school year, as well as sponsored the concession stand at the Cotton Boll Relays Meet. As a result of determined efforts, the National Honor Society was able to present one hundred dollar scholarships to three senior members.

Five sophomores, seventeen juniors, and thirteen seniors made up the '70-'71 membership under the sponsorship of Ruth Mantor.

Rhonda Psencik, Mike Quebe, and Suzanne Klattenhoff attended Regional Meet in Corpus Christi.

The Cotton Boll does it again in all classes. The newspaper took Medalist in the Columbia Press Association ratings, the highest rating any paper can receive. The Cotton Boll also took first at the University Interscholastic League Press Conference held in Austin. There was an error made at the dinner and before over 2,000 people another paper not even in our district was named first with the Cotton Boll getting an award of Distinguished Merit.

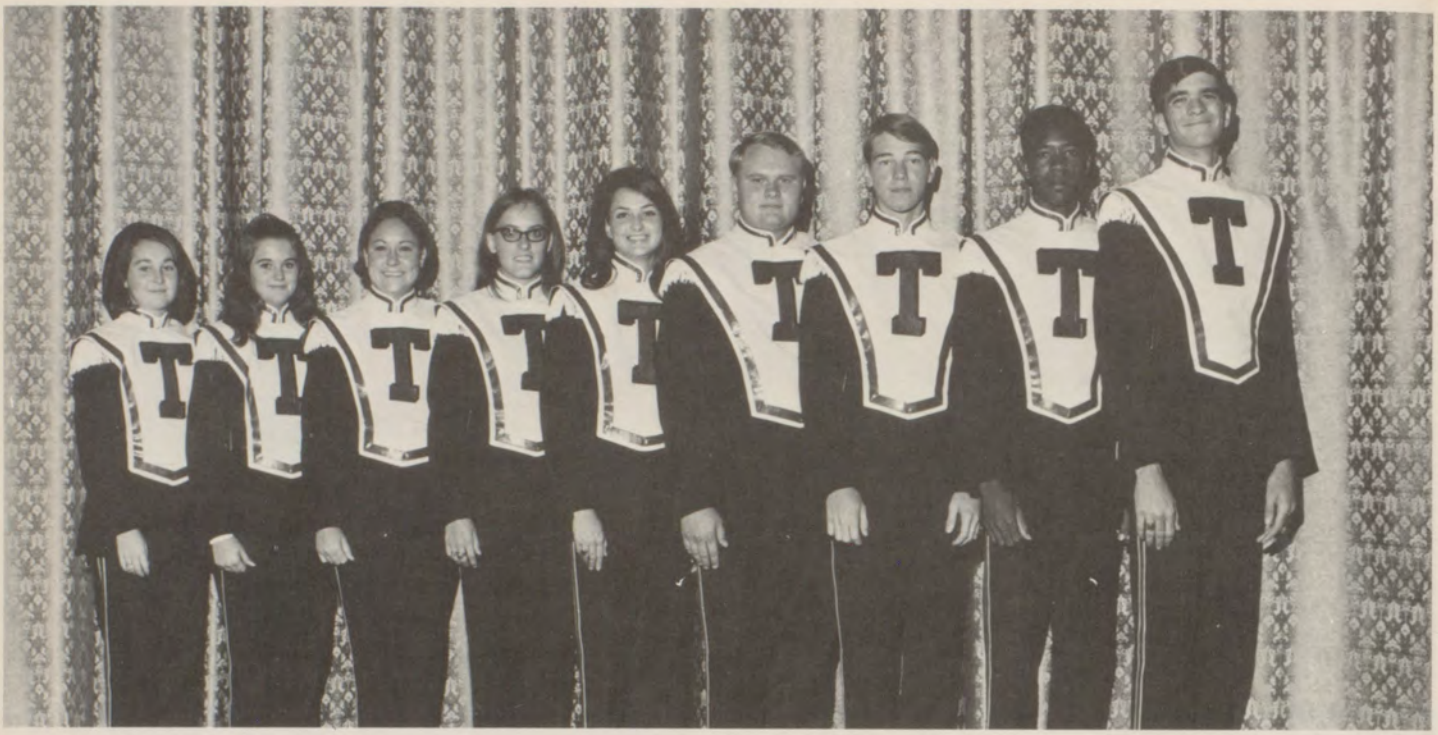

However, the error was soon corrected and the Cotton Boll was announced number one. Many individual awards were also presented to members of the staff.

Tim Kennedy was awarded first place for his sports feature. Mike Aanstoos, second for featurette, and Doug Benad a second for spot news photography.

For Sweepstakes

Starting the year off right, the Taylor High School Varsity Band came home proudly from Marching Contest with a superior rating of 1. Their continued success through the year was due to their many hours of practice, morning, noon, and night. The band always helps in boosting spirit and providing entertainment at basketball games, pep rallies, bon fires, and football games. This year the Taylor Band hosted the Region U. I. L. Band Concert and Sight Reading Contest, the largest contest Taylor has ever held. In this contest the Varsity Band received two excellent ratings. The Taylor Band should be praised for their excellent year.

The Spirit of The Green is boosted by the lively tunes played by the band at pep rallies.

Concentration, precision, and hard work make for a superior performance by the band.

Twirlers Add Smile, Sparkle To Games

With smile, sparkle, and bubble, Ginger, Carol, Jalane, Vicki, Denise, and Glynda topped off the football halftime shows, pep rallies, and parades. Their hard work, practice, and determination was shown through their superior performances during the year. Adding their part to the trophy case, the twirlers not only won local contests but also placed on the state level. To add a finishing touch to their year the twirlers appeared in new military uniforms furnished by the Band Boosters. The twirlers should be praised for a job well done.

Pep Squad Adds To Duck Spirit

Sec., Minnie Jackson; Pres., Amy Allgood; Lt., Vikki Rose; V.P., Rita Moreno; Treas., Debi Cotner; Lt., Marie Vrana.

Headed by senior Amy Allgood, the 1970-71 Green Jackets had the largest membership ever with 70 loyal and enthusiastic Duck supporters. Better known as the Pep Squad, their duties throughout the year included boosting Duck spirit and selling programs at the football games.

Green Jackets had many night practices in which they polished their pom pom and hand routines for the stands during football games. They joined in on the booster lines and also sat together in pep rallies adding their part to the noise and excitement. The Green Jackets truly contributed to the spirit of the green and white.

FBLA Gets Down To Business

1971 proved to be a busy and successful year for Taylor's Future Business Leaders of America. Making tray favors at Thanksgiving for patients in the hospital and sending flowers to sponsor Mrs. Doris Kelch's husband were among the many nice things they did for people. The club sold stationery to raise money. A banquet for the installation of officers and an ice cream social honoring the seniors highlighted their year.

Mrs. Sandra Parker proudly displays the gift that the MALLARD staff presented her as a token of their appreciation.

With the help and advice of two great sponsors, the MALLARD staff worked hard to produce a yearbook that everyone would appreciate and be proud of. Adding imagination to the production of a yearbook, Mrs. Sandra Parker devoted her time and energy during the first semester. Mrs. Linda Clark filled the position vacated at midterm, and she brought many new ideas and much enthusiasm to the staff.

Selected to be on the staff, each member gives of his own time and energy averaging about eight hours a week, sometimes more. Pictures to take and deadlines to meet were two of the many pressures faced by the staff, but when the books came in August, everything was worthwhile.

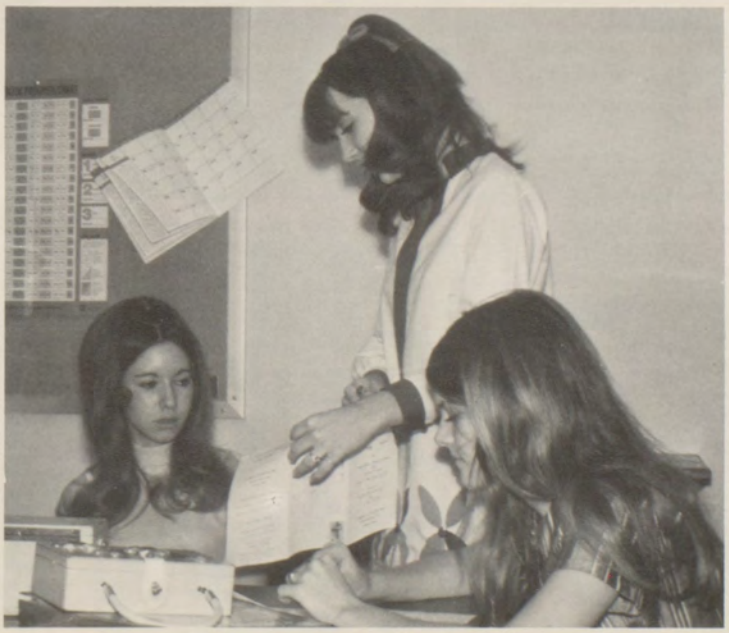

The new MALLARD sponsor, Mrs. Linda Clark, ponders over another problem.

Los Vecinos, or the Spanish Club, is one of the most active clubs in Taylor High. This year they have a membership of over sixty students. Their sponsor, Miss Beatrice McKinley is a big help to the club with her advice and leadership. The club, as it does each year, helped the Friends of the Library. It also collected food for the needy and sponsored the annual chile supper. On April 28 the club had its annual spring banquet which all of the members enjoyed. This year fourteen students and one sponsor attended the PASF State Convention in San Antonio.

Miss McKinley adds to the success of the Spanish Club by being such a great sponsor.
