Been There. Done That

The Mallard Staff thought long and hard this year to select the theme, style, and look of this book. We came to the conclusion that one of our most distinctive traits was our ability to travel and change. When we considered all the places we had been and all the things we had done, we realized we had found the theme of our book. We always took the chance to travel and explore new frontiers either within ourselves or in our environment. This year proved to be a chance to have new adventures we never thought would be possible. We ventured into places we had never been before, tried new ideas, and experienced the unthinkable all for the sake of doing it. We

Been There Done That

We have been there and we have done that, and we can prove it. Taylor High students have traveled the world and tried new things. We have traversed the oceans to travel to Europe, Asia, and Antarctic (just kidding). Though we have traveled far and experienced new and exciting things, we have always returned to the homes we love. There were also the ones that didn't have to leave the country to find their thrills. We dived from planes, repelled down mountains, and explored the depths of the oceans in a search for excitement and knowledge. We overcame the unthinkable in our search for adventure. Some of us found ways to do new things and experience new ideas right here in Taylor. Speaking of being there and doing that, we were able to explore new frontiers in sports, the playoffs, and in education. The city limits of Taylor no longer could contain our adventuresome spirit and thirst for excitement. We had to go out and conquer that which was unknown to us. We can reflect back on having definitely been there and done everything that could possibly be achieved.

Hawaii '94

"That's the Life!" Melisa Lawerence relaxes in a tropical paradise.

"Guten Tag!" Phillip Zimmerhanel, Bradley Hargis, and Alice Hejl pose for a picture with a new found friend in the German village of Rotenburg.

"Don't look down!" Tessa Rhoades is repelling at Frontier Ranch in Colorado. Done that?

Mr. Baylor shows he is willing to give it all up for his school as he excitedly fulfils his promise of having his head shaved if the Ducks beat Reagan, which they did!

"Look at that view" Eli Mayers smiles for a picture with a friend in the Asian island of Bali.

Rain, rain go away! That's what most Taylorites who attended the Homecoming game were saying! Yes, on one of the best events of the year, IT POURED!! Tradition. That was one thing we tried to keep going, but this year a few new traditions were added to the list!

Lights out! Crowd screaming! Stands shaking! The very first blackout pep rally in Taylor Duck history was underway! There were practices before, and the cheerleaders, steppers, band and twirlers really had to work together to get everything just perfect! This was, I believe, the loudest and craziest pep rally I've ever been to!

In years past Homecoming Queen had always been a very big issue! This year we added a new subject to the court. A Homecoming King and princes! Eight girls and eight guys were chosen from the senior class to be nominated for King and Queen! These nominees, all dressed up, looking pretty and handsome, had to stand in the rain while the names of King and Queen were announced. Then, the game began!

The story of how Taylor got our mascot really was relived when Taylor played Lampasas at Homecoming. Let me tell you, the Duck pond was full! The rain began during the pregame activities. That was only sprinkles compared to forty million inches of rain that fell during the actual game. The Ducks were forced to play while sheets of rain covered them! It seemed like the rain would never stop! Although only a few faithful fans and students stayed to support the Ducks until the end of the game, Homecoming 1994 will never be forgotten!!

Tear it up! The football team prepares to Bash the Badgers at the Black Out pep rally!

Bad to the Bone! Mandy Tennill, Candy Patschke, and Melinda Stansbury and friends express their Homecoming spirit at the pep rally.

MADE IT!

-Senior Class-

Oh yes, we've been there, and we have definately done that; we made it. We never believed anyone when they told us how fast our senior year would go by! Boy were they right! We had been through the past four years together, and for some of us even longer. No one can explain the feeling of being a senior unless you have already passed that stage in your life. Being a senior was more work and more good times than any of us had realized. Through the blure of classes, schudules, and activities, we realized, as the hours turned into days, and the days into weeks, and weeks into months, that it was all going to be over in a blink of an eye. We had stuck together through thick and thin and endured what proved to be the best year of our lives. Before we knew it, we were all decked out in our long green robes and our little green hats walking to get our diplomas. That walk across the stage began a journey that we will continue the rest of our lives. No longer did the halls of Taylor High protect us from the world; now we had to go forward and brave that new world each in our own way. No matter what our individual futures hold, we will always remember our senior year .

FASHION IS VISIONARY CONVERSATION

Fashion is defined by Webster as the prevailing style during a particular time. Therefore, walking through the halls of THS , one could encounter a variety of emotions and moods through an assortment of fashion styles.

First, we reflect on the distinctive alternative group, wearing blue jeans with holes, loosely fitted clothes, and bell bottoms. Offering a clear picture of the diversity within our high school, their motto could be termed "dare to be different."

Then, we can always remember that the common trend was the ever popular casual look which included every kind of tee-shirt and the trendy stylish flannels. Okay, THS fashion cannot be evaluated without mentioning the "kicker look," with the tight fitting Wranglers and Rocky Mountain jeans and boots. The country-western life-style along with its music is a way of life for many in Taylor. There was also the "preppy look," as vests became popular along with brown boots, loafers, and Structure shirts. And last, but definitely not least, we had the "burr", which was especially reflected in the nearly bald hairdos of the male students. This style was a definite declaration of fitness, ruggedness, and energy.

Fashion is visionary conversation. It expresses the moods of others, along with their likes and dislikes, without even a spoken word. It also demonstrates that, in the 94-95 school year, people dressed according to the mood that they were feeling on a given day. Taylor High School had a wide variety of styles and FASHIONS!

Just Chillin! Kenan Frank and Raul Menchaca show off the ever popular casual look.
Oh my gosh! Matt Maruska and Mike Laurence sport their preppy attire.
Flannels anyone? Exhibiting the customary flannel, Melinda Stansbury cheeses it hard.

Yee Haw! The kicker look is shown off by Andy Urbanek and Jaime Lannen.
Buzzzz! Travis Winkler instigated a fashion statement with the newly popular designer shave.
Dare to be different! Laura Rios and Cody Seigmund prefer to break the rules of traditional fashion.

OBSESSIONS

I'm a soul man! James Hertless is determined to follow in his fathers footsteps as a musician.
I'll trade you! Shawn Trevino, Lance Valdez and friends enjoyed collecting and trading sports cards.

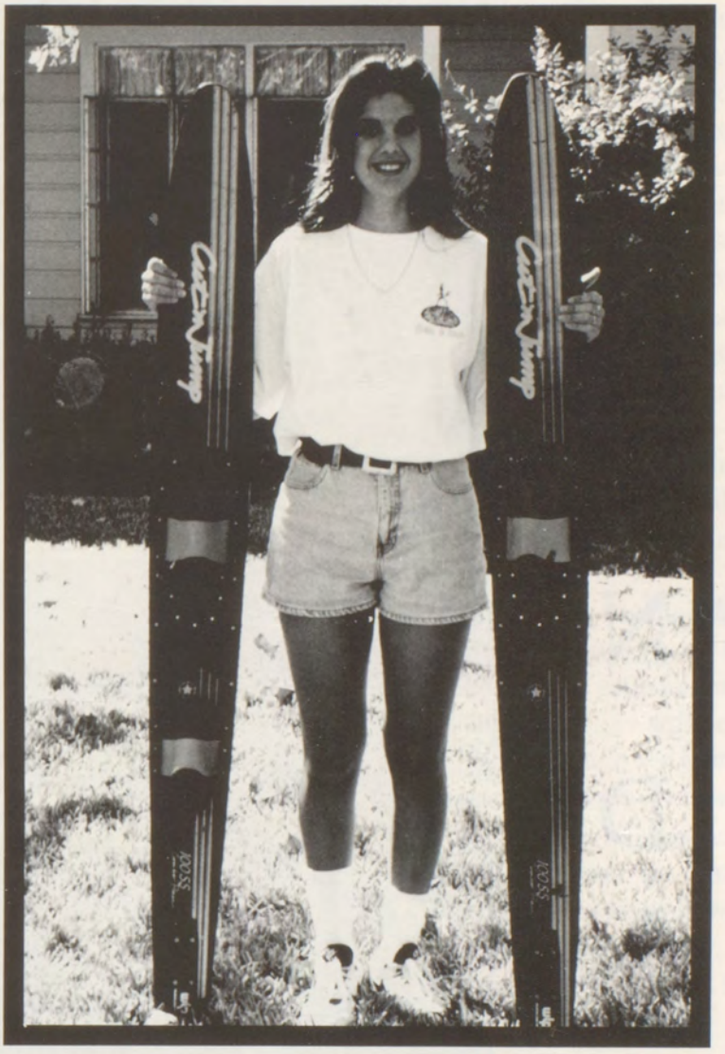

Everyone had something they were incredibly drawn to and obsessed with. Secret or not, personal obsessions were perfect for indulging our time and money into. Without our obsessions, our lives would not have been complete. These obsessions were what distinguished us from one another and made us each unique. But often times we shared these obsessions with our friends. Whether it was collecting bug specimens or bungee jumping from hot air balloons, we were always looking for a way to take our minds off the unbelievably tiresome days of school. Although it was hard to find the time for our obsessions, taking off to relish over these "luxuries" was always worth the effort.

Gobble, gobble! You know where you can find Phillip Zimmerhanzel during hunting season.
Don't let go of the rope! Laura Gosset can be found skiing at the lake whenever the sun is out.
Hook 'em Horns! Mike Laurence looks really excited to be a Longhorn.
Gig 'em Aggies! Look at all of Jennifer Winkler's Aggie paraphernalia.

FRIENDSHIP

Good Friends! Misty Vanderford, Allison Behrends, and Kelly Wilson pause for a memory as a fish.

Oohh! Nathan Umiker, Eric Tallas, and Raymond Stefek pass the time by looking at a deer hunting book.

Go twirlers! Suzanne Strimiska and Kathy Baker have become close friends after spending lots of time together practicing.

Taking a brief moment from their party. Amanda Schwartz and Mike Lawrence pose for a quick pic.

Throughout high school, our friends played a starring role in our lives. Friendship didn't just happen overnight; we had to work at it. We choose our friends carefully which was why they were so special to us. As time passed, we grew closer to our friends.

Friends were one of the most valuable possessions that a person could have. Throughout the years, we went through both good and bad times - the good times definitely stood out above the bad. All of these memories we gained will remain in our hearts for us to cherish forever.

Having friends helped us through those many trying days. It gave us something to look forward to each day. Although we knew a day would come when we would go our separate ways, we knew that no matter where we went, or how far apart we would end up, our friendships would last forever.

-Junior Class-

We've been there, done that and had some fun in the process. We came into our junior year with high spirits and a fresh new attitude, knowing that we were finally upperclassmen!! We knew this year wouldn't be easy, but somehow we overcame the hustle and bustle of PSAT, TAAS, putting together a successful prom, and those long, stressful research papers. Some of us even tried those new AP courses. Things didn't always come out on top or as we had anticipated, but we did survive! With a lot of hard work and determination, we pulled off one of the best years we've ever had. We somehow managed to put the stress behind us as we enjoyed friends, ball games and perhaps new jobs. Many of us anticipated a career or college in our future, so as the year started to close, we began our trek in those directions. For some of us it meant the SAT or the ACT; for the career bound, it meant looking for a job in our career choice or looking into a vocational school. We had started the year thinking we had all the time in the world before our hectic senior year. Little did we realize how fast it would pass, but with the help of our teachers and counselors, we were well on the way to getting ready for college, career and our senior year. The only thing that concerned us was, "If this year went by so fast, what would next year be like?" We were sure this year was definitely not to be forgotten!

Getting a Little Closer

-Sophomore Class-

We were the 1994-1995 sophomores. We no longer were the ones who needed the most nurturing and direction. It made us feel good to know that we could lead others now, even if we still had the juniors and seniors above us. But with position comes responsibility. Now, we had to do our fair share of being helpful and serving as examples to the younger students. At times it was a little overwhelming, but we became more confident in our roll, and we began to discover the importance of and the satisfaction in concentrating on our studies. There was always plenty of homework to go around. Also, we were given more opportunities to become active in extracurricular activities. Of coarse, our sophomore year always included a lot of fun. We took special pride in being a real part of Taylor High School, and we could always be counted upon to contribute to school spirit at pep rallies, sports events, and in service projects. We will always remember the school parties and dances that took place during this year in our life. Of coarse, there were those disappointments, such as losing at sports events or not making a good grade on a test, but these, too, were learning experiences. One of the greatest things that happened to us during this year were the close and binding friendships that were established through our school activities. Years from now when we come back for reunions or even recall our school years for our families, we can reflect on a wealth of memories.

Just Beginning

-Freshman Class-

Freshman are always the same. Every year, making the transition of being a big fish in a small pond to being just a small fish is no treat. You can't blame them for feeling a little awkward at times. We all know how stupid we felt when we had to have someone help us open our lockers. Having all the upperclassmen look down at you like marine life wasn't the most enjoyable experience either. But this class of fish got through it, tough times and all, to make this year one they would never forget. As the year progressed and the faces became more familiar, all the stress that came along with being the new guys seemed to go away, and the wisecracks came to a hault...finally. What seemed like a slow school year, all of a sudden flashed by before your eyes. Depending on your outlook, being a fish could have been a walk in the park or a swim in the Bermuda Triangle. But whatever your case may have been; you also couldn't argue with the fact that when you were a freshman, it was unique. And, no matter how often you were ridiculed and embarrassed by the "upperclassmen", you stuck together taking it all in stride. Just because you are a fish, you don't have to act like one, which brings about my final conclusion: Most are freshman just once in their life, while others continue to be freshman forever.

LEADING US INTO TOMORROW

-Faculty and Administration -

The 1994-95 school year flew by quickly, but there are some things we'll never forget. The outstanding dedication from this year's faculty took on a whole new outlook for Taylor High School. The initiative, the effort, everything that a teacher could put into it to make students understand, and take that extra step to a higher learning will always be appreciated. While continually getting the point across, teachers have a certain magic which made learning fun and exciting. The approaches taken by Taylor High School teachers were extremely diverse, ranging from class to class. But let's not overlook the other wonderful members of our staff. The faculty always worked extra hard to make sure credits were in check, students were in line, colleges were notified and test takers were prepared to pass their tests. The counselors and principals kept everything in order and in such a way that everyone exceled and did their best. This year, two outstanding women were recognized with their outstanding accomplishments. Valerie Clemens was named teacher of the year because of her leadership and teaching approaches, and Mary Kalbaugh was chosen educator of the year by the senior class.

A HIGHER LEARNING

ENGLISH

English was one subject we will never out grow. We started with learning grammar, where to put commas and quotation marks, etc. Then, there were all of those vocabulary words we were forced to learn. Another major goal was to prepare for TAAS tests which may have seemed like a pain, but later paid off greatly. Our horizons were broadened by reading various pieces of literature that we otherwise probably would not have read. We read many famous works of literature in depth and critiqued them and wrote papers to ready ourselves for the future. Then came research papers. We spent hours in the library choosing a topic and gathering information to write a terrific paper. Although all of the work we did seemed quite nerve-racking, it gave us basic knowledge we needed for college and whatever else lays ahead of us. English may have been difficult at times, but it was a necessary part of our lives and will continually be put to good use.

The comma goes before the conjunction. Mrs. Jackson helps a student on an assignment.
Is that a preposition? Junior, Pedro Guttierrez, is baffled by an English assignment.

Always eager to share ideas. Mrs. Foley helps Eloy Alderete write that perfect.
Et tu Brute! Sophomore, April Fraizer, concentrates on a scene from Julius Caesar.

THE ANSWER IS...

MATH

Have you ever been at a mall where a group of people were standing at a store window, staring at some 3-D computer imageries, trying to distinguish the hidden picture. Suddenly someone in the group exclaims, "Wow! I can see it," and walks off, leaving everybody else staring in confusion. A similar scene could be found in our math classes where students were attempting to solve math problems. Some of the students were saying, "Wow! I got it," while the others were still working in confusion.

In the mall, when some of those who had finally seen the images were so excited, they wanted others to share their experience. This also happened in the math classes, when some of the students began to understand the wonderful world of math, and they too wanted others to have this experience

Some students found it more difficult to see the whole "picture" when it came to math; others found it easier. No matter how long it took to get the math experience, it was an event that one will use throughout their lives.

Take this and add it to this. Michaela Herrera and Elsa Gomez concentrate on getting an A on a quiz.
Boy, I'm glad I studied! Cedric Morre works didigently to finsh his algebra quiz.

Take this x and subtract it. Mrs. McAferty helps a student better understand the complicated world of mathematics.
No problem! Trey Turner finds time to pose for a quick picture during geometry.
Hey, hurry up! Doug Dixon and Oscar Abundiz work together to get their assignment finished.
Hey y'all, listen up! Mr. Pass gets attention to hand out some old papers.

NEW FRONTIERS

SCIENCE

At Taylor High School, many courses were available dealing with science. From Physical Science and Biology to Chemistry and Physics, we as students were opted to choose from a wide variety of scientific studies. Many students found themselves dissecting the fetus of a pig in Biology I or calculating the velocity and weight of a baseball being thrown in Physics. Titrations in chemistry provided a challenge for Mrs. Sutton's classes. Even so, whether we were outside tossing around a baseball or indoors wearing those infamous chemistry goggles, we were learning that much more about the world around us.

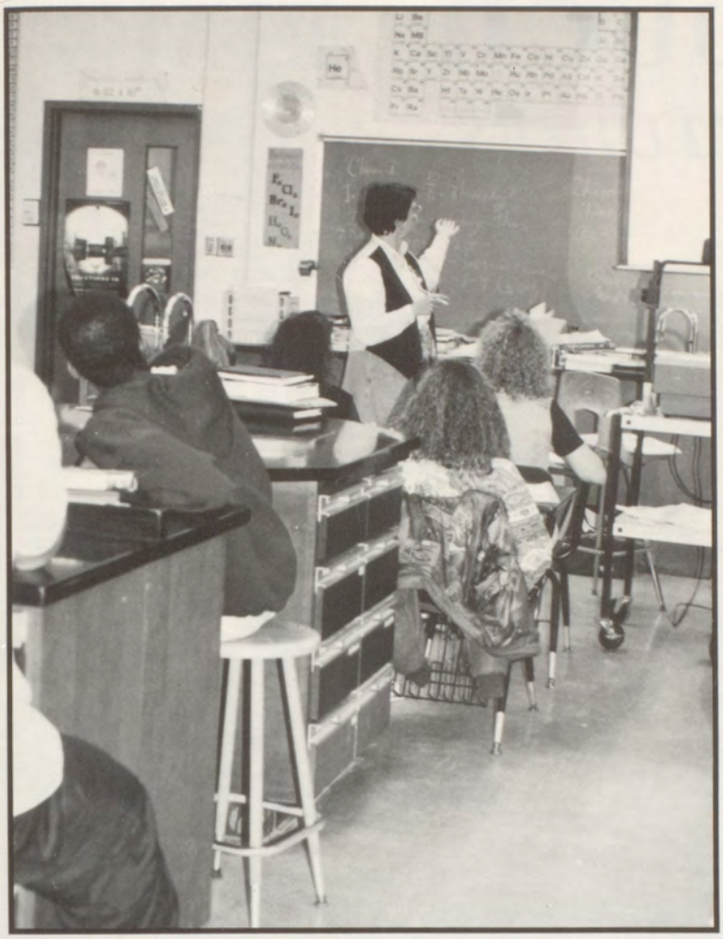

Our scientific studies allowed us to explore new and amazing worlds and to experiment with unusual and peculiar concepts and formulas. All in all, as always, we learned an incredible amount of valuable information that will benefit us as we continue our schooling. Who knows, maybe someday, a Duck just might make scientific history!

School of fish. Freshman Hunter Hargis, Cody Dloughy and Martha Mesta cheese it hard in Biology.
You want us to do what?! Seniors Jennifer Neitsch and Tara Hays conduct a test of objects in Bio. II.
Bushee! Physics students listen attentively to one of Mr. Bushee's famous informative lectures.

Come on guys, don't you get it?!? Mrs. Sutton explains chemical reactions to her Chem. I class.
We're not confused! Seniors Josh Schroeder and Devin Gonzales know what's up in Physics.
Careful Joey. Junior Joey Quebe gets together all his equipment for dissection in Biology II.
I've almost got it! Brandon Hanacik designs an experiment for his science class.

A TREK TROUGH TIME

SOCIAL STUDIES

When social studies came to mind, we didn't associate them with a pleasant time. Social Studies was tough and hard to stick with. It required a large amount of concentration and dedication to succeed in a social studies class.

So even though we knew the difficult tasks that were ahead of us, we still met them head on. We had to admit that something inside made us believe in these classes. Something inside told us that we would receive a basic understanding of our world around us. We realized that social studies gave us an idea of what the real world was all about. After all those grueling hours of looking up vocabulary words, and after all those nights spent cramming for that big test the next day (that you really had weeks to have studied for), your hard work paid off. The extraordinary feelings of satisfaction and pride that came from your accomplishments helped everyone out. Yes, your hard work rubbed off on your classmates, and soon everyone was just as dedicated as you were to getting the job done. Then, before you knew it, it was all over. You survived! It wasn't that hard was it?

Can I help you? Mr. Munize stops for a picture while helping Robert Linton with his social studies.
Now I know it's here somewhere! Jeremy Quebe explores the world in the comfort of the his classroom.
Could we study any harder?! Rebecca Gonzoles and Pam Clayton are seriously preparing their history assignments.

I got it this time! Melanie Urbis is attentive to Mr. Crow's instructions for the next assignment.
Let's see? Kevin Widmer studies closely the trades between the USA and the rest of the world.
B, D, E, C, Karla Potts, Rudy Ontiveros, Kim Wright, and Amy Torres are carefully correcting their chapter test in Mr. Pool's class.

ELECTIVES

Most of us came into Taylor High clueless about what classes to take, so we had to choose electives. And when we talked about electives, we didn't mean some boring class that you slept through... No Taylor High offered an array of interesting electives to chose from.

Electives were more than just classes, they were a taste of the world outside of school. The knowledge you received was more specific to your interest than some of the core studies were. Many people took electives to help them decide what they wanted to do with their lives.

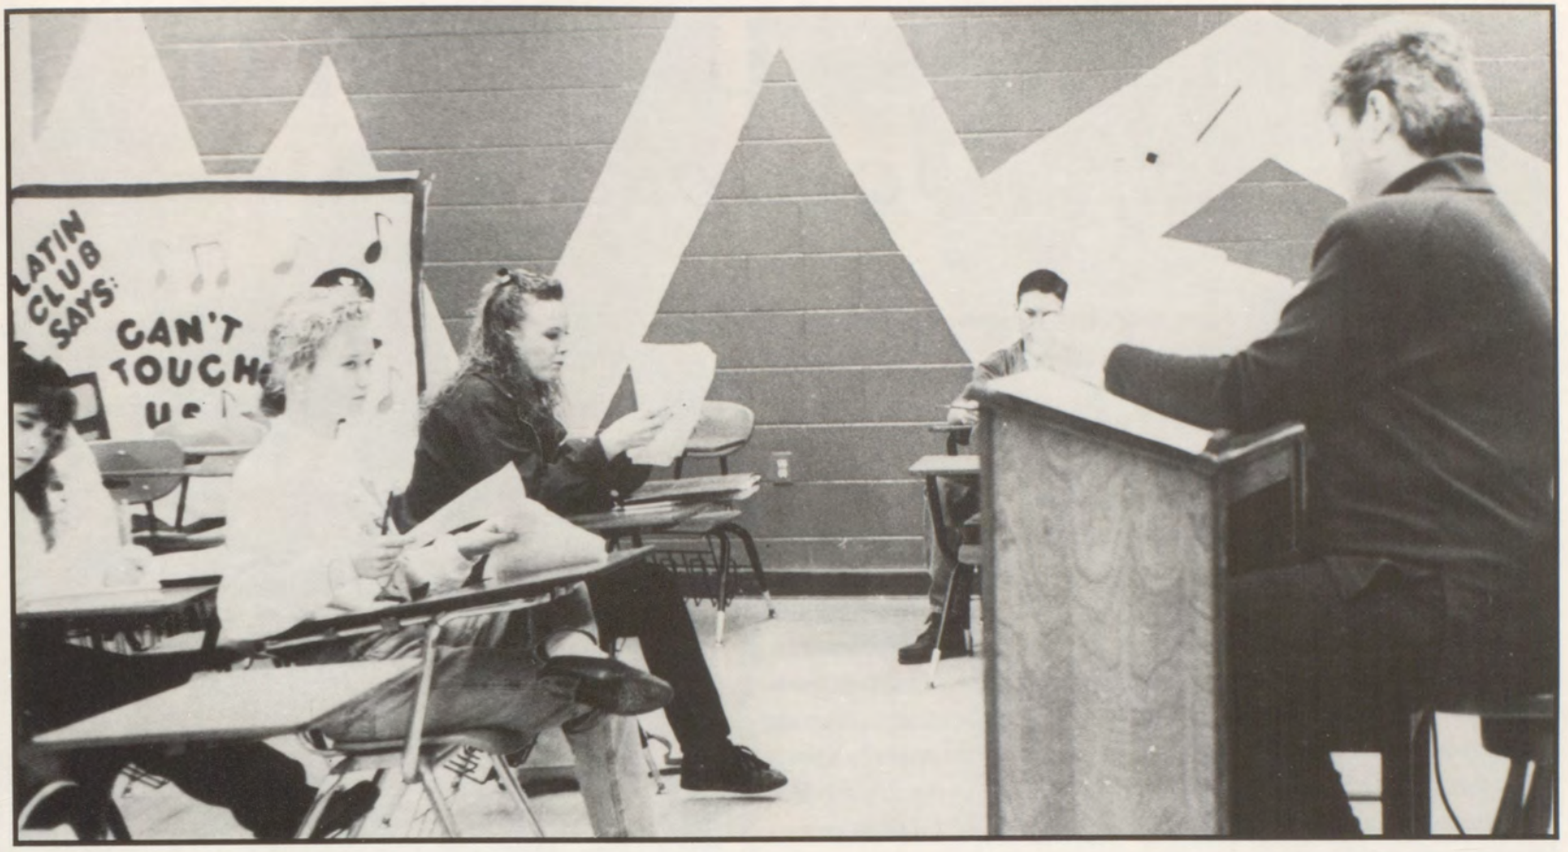

Electives also gave the students who didn't like school (who did?) something to look forward to throughout the day. Often times after you took an elective for a semester, you realized that maybe this wasn't the path you wanted to take. All you had to do was choose another one that held your interest at that particular time.

Now where did I see that answer? Patrick Stoglin concentrate on his IFL assignment.
Come on, work with me! Regena Baltimore works patiently with her typewritter.
Syntax error? Again! Ralphie Compos tries diligently to get his program to work in computer math.

Wo ist bitte das telefon? "Where is the telephone?" Mrs. Jackson's German class practices asking questions.
Alright we get to cook! Quincy Randall and Alfred Collins got ready to step into the kitchen in their class.
Beautiful...if I do say so myself! Robert Linton poses while he admires his artistic creation.
Can you spell that again? Mrs. Schaefer's Latin II class is working hard.

THE REAL WORLD

VOCATIONAL

Students always found something to spend money on, and since we knew that it didn't grow on trees, we looked to the vocational program as a way of earning it. This program offered students the chance to make a little extra spending money, and at the same time, it taught us various skills that would help us in many different jobs. Not only were we learning valuable skills, we also found that we could put them to use and be paid for it. It was these skills and these jobs that made it possible to purchase those little things we just couldn't live without, or make those car payments. Whether our job interests were in technical fields, sales, food production, child care, or office work, there was a vocational program for everyone. Everything we learned in this program not only helped us through high school, but will also be helpful in the future. Besides money and knowledge, the vocational program provided us with real-world experience.

-VARSITY FOOTBALL-

The "Quack Attack" was back in the playoffs for the first time since 1990. With many teams leaving District 25, the door was opened for the Ducks; however, we gained some new teams. These teams were thought of as powerhouses and were somewhat feared because these were teams we had not faced before. And yet, the "Quack Attack" came off with three easy wins. After a terrific 9-1 season, the Ducks were to head to the playoffs. With a home field advantage against the Raiders of Reagan, the Ducks advanced to the second round of the playoffs. It was here that the Ducks faced the Schertz Clemens Buffalos. The Ducks thumped the Buffalos 40-14 to become Area Champs!! Playing the Wildcats of Corpus Christie Calallen, the Ducks season ended on a down note; they were bumped out of the playoffs. Through all the times of the season, like the monsoon weather of homecoming and the stomping of the Belton Tigers, the Ducks stayed united and went the farthest they ever have in 4A play.

We had heart, determination and unity which produced a spectacular season, never to be forgotten!

Ahh! Freshman, Tory Wilson seems a bit frightened after barely catching the ball.

This years JV and freshmen football teams decided to get down to it and show their rivals what they were made of. They ended their seasons with very impressive records and have proven themselves as a force to contend with in the future. With their hard fought victories, the freshmen and JV also proved that they would never give up and would do whatever it takes to reach a higher level of competition. The freshmen team had an outstanding season by winning all but one game. They showed the heart and desire necessary to come back next season without any defeats. Meanwhile, the JV had a pretty successful season posting a 5-3-1 record. They will need to bring that winning attitude as they move up to the Varsity level in an effort to play for the defending district champions.

As the season ended, both teams were looking for next year's victories. Many of the guys started powerlifting or at least an active weight program. A running program also continued. One thing for sure, our guys are going to work hard this summer, stay in training and be an awesome force next year.

Get out of my way! Sophomore, Alfred Collins says as he stiff arms a defender to gain extra yardage.

AT THE TOP AGAIN

-GUYS VARSITY BASKETBALL-

The 1994-95 Taylor Duck basketball team had a tough task to handle this season. We handled this task well by winning the 25AAAA district title for the second crown of the season. Under first year head coach Jeff Bell, the Ducks dropped the first game of the season with a 57-59 loss to Westwood, but reeled off our next twelve of sixteen opponents as we rapped up the non-district schedule and moved into district play with a 12-5 record.

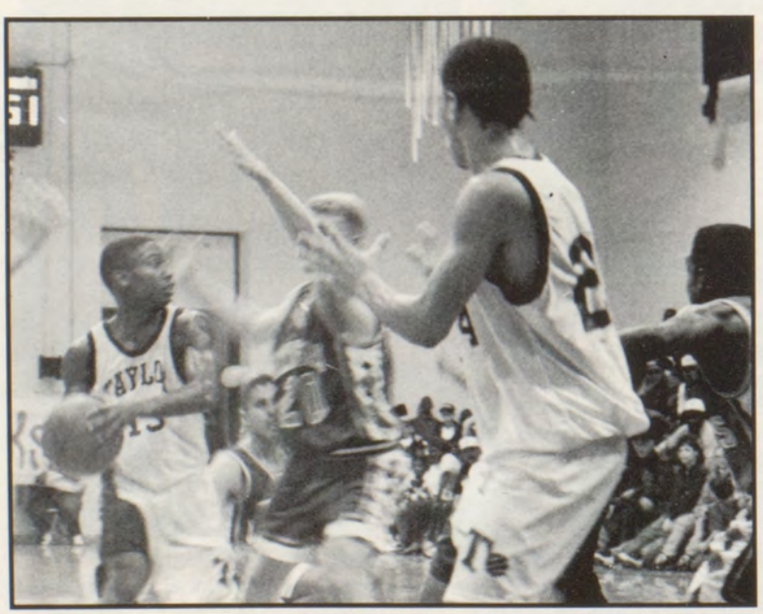

The Ducks made the playoffs for the first time since 1973 and drew Anderson, the number two team in the state. The Ducks played strong and held our heads high in a 74-48 loss to the Trojans. The Taylor Ducks gave the community, school and athletes the second district championship of the year. The season was in all, awesome, with a capital A.

Because of each player's desire, unselfishness, and ability to play, we brought home a district title for the first time in 23 years.

The Junior Varsity basketball team had an impressive season this year with an 18-8 record and a second place finish in district with a 7-3 mark. In loop action the Ducks dropped their first game to Waco Midway by the score of 60-61. They then went on a roll and won the next three games including a shellacking of the Belton Tigers in a 91-74 outburst. The Ducks finished their district play against Lampasas with a knockout 72-46 win.

Scramble!!! Scott Raesz and Jonathon King go after the ball while Bubba looks on.

Coming into their first high school season, the freshman Ducks had a great year. The Ducks started off slow as they dropped their first game 74-44 to Westwood. Under the new direction of Murray Lord, the Ducks swept the next three games and never looked back from there. The freshman closed out the non-district play with an 8-6 record as they entered district play. The Ducks won their first three games then dropped a heartbreaker to Belton. Again, they got on a roll and won the last two out of three games. The Taylor freshmen finished the year with a 5-2 first place district record and a 13-6 overall record. The guys basketball team appreciates all of their loyal fans and supporters from the community. The team had a great year and intends to make it even better next year.

HARD WORK & DEDICATION

-GIRLS VARSITY BASKETBALL-

A good season is measured by the amount of dedication, hard work, and team spirit that is put into an effort. This year, the girls basketball team personified all of these characteristics and completed an all-around successful, season. Through the players persistence, the team made large strides in bringing the Taylor girls basketball program into quality caliber. The team worked hard and overcame numerous difficulties in order to achieve. They were within one game of advancing into district playoffs and were exciting and competitive at various tournaments. The girls that comprised this team were full of determination and heart and their overall record of 21-6 clearly showed this. Because of the players' efforts this year, the future of Taylor girls basketball looks very bright.

This team had the most camaraderie and desire to win that I've seen, and we should be proud of ourselves. Thanks for a great season, team!

Being aggressive!! Fighting for Taylor's ball, the freshman team always got what they wanted.

The girls junior varsity basketball team kept spirit in their hearts throughout the year. The girls may not have had the best of seasons, but they always stuck in there, and they learned from their mistakes. For this reason, Coach Kennedy saw a lot of potential in many of the girls and hopes to see a better performance next year.

They had an extremely difficult district schedule, but they realized that this year needed to be used to get the basics down.

Don't even think about getting past April! April Hennington keeps on the McNeil Mavericks.

Next year, they will be coming in full force and on top of things.

The girls freshman basketball team also showed endless drive throughout the season. These girls came into high school fresh, new and not knowing exactly what was expected of them; however, they always gave it their all. After getting the feel of things, a new and promising season of expectations shall arise next year.

Being on the junior varsity basketball team gave the girls many things to look forward to in years to come when they are on varsity. The support of the crowd has a lot to do with the aspect of the game. The roar of a crowd was enough to get anyone to push a little harder. Both teams would like to thank those who did come and support them throughout the season.

TEST OF ENDURANCE

-VARSITY VOLLEYBALL-

The 1994 Taylor Varsity Volleyball team had a tough, yet successful season. With an overall record of seventeen wins and ten losses, the girls showed an admirable amount of improvement from previous years of play. All players pulled together to become one for the team and conquered nearly every obstacle which came along. Struggling through disappointing losses and enjoying triumphant victories proved to be tests of endurance and sweet revenge. Defeating old and new nemeses showed great character and determination from the young Lady Ducks.

With many Lady Duck volleyball players returning for the following seasons, the team will be able to grow from what they learned this year. The experience of working in unity helped players to realize the true meaning of teamwork. Memories of a team which proved to be successful both on and off the court should never be forgotten.

We started this year with a weight program which had been needed for a very long time. I believe this helped us in all girls sports.

The Lady Duck Freshmen and Junior Varsity Volleyball teams showed strength and endurance throughout the 1994 season. Suffering through some difficult defeats, the players learned what being a part of a team was really all about. Consisting of mostly freshmen and sophomores, this group of young, girls were offered a challenge to discover the heartache and pleasures of high school athletics. The ups and downs proved to be stressful and difficult, but both teams took the pressure with complete grace.

But, let's not forget how much fun the beginning of our high school volleyball career was. Traveling together on the road and even playing at home always seemed to hold some excitement. The friendships which were started in volleyball practice and during games will always be held close to our hearts. All in all, whether we won or lost, new lessons were learned and new experiences were confirmed to be very valuable. In the future, we will forever remember all the fun we had together during our first years of volleyball.

Freshmen and sophomores were uniquely special when we first started to play volleyball. While our unmastered skills were displayed, each of us chose to keep fighting, even through the most painful defeats, and sometimes when the road seemed to tough to follow, we kept on struggling and trying the best that we could. There were not many others who could endure the heartache and enjoy the enthusiasm like we could.

Of course, we get spoiled to success. For this reason, the Duck baseball season was especially thrilling. As the year began, we faced many adversities; games got rained out, key players had injuries which kept some of them out almost the whole season. Fortunately, the other players stepped up to these challenges; we went to the playoffs, and we showed for the second year in a row just how tough the Taylor Ducks were. We pulled together in a season that could have been a disaster and made it a season of success. We proved again and again the heart we put into our sport. Of course, the fans helped add to this heart, and they boosted our morale. Even in the times we lost, they helped us get ready for the next game.

Goodness! Gracious! Great balls of fire! Rhea Urbis shows her fast pitch to the opponent.

This had just been the second year of softball here at Taylor and the girls were ready to show no mercy. Still fresh from coming into a new sport, the Lady Ducks' efforts showed the girls' heart and dedication for the game.

Girls were put in gear under the leadership of Coach James Ward and Coach Richard Reyes. They worked them day in and day out, but the girls always stuck in there without giving up.

Hey Ref...get a load of this! Laura Gossett prepares to get a grounder.

Softball was considered a fun athletic sport, but the girls sometimes wouldn't have called it that. Leaving a practice or game with a couple of bruises, cuts or even a black eye didn't bother the girls-it came along with the sport.

Having several valuable players from the past year, this year's team brought up a handful of eager and very athletic girls. No matter what the scores on the board were, some games were better than others, and errors that were made at a game were definitely corrected before the next game was to be played.

RUNNING STRONG
-GUYS TRACK-

The Taylor Duck guys track team was in full swing this year with several returning tracksteers as well as several new and determined faces. The stamina and vitality of these guys was lead by Coach Wayne Schroeder and Coach Mike Tennill. This year's team had an endless devotion to this sport. They all showed much enthusiasm in something which they all enjoyed doing.

The initiative that the team put forward really paid off in the long run. Taylor was proud to have five Duck tracksteers qualifiers for regionals. They were Matt Maruska, Tyrone Davis, Tony Wilson, Jeremie Pack, and Raymond Stefek. Along with these came two alternates, Cedric Moore and Steven Wright.

Leaving exhausted opponents laps behind, these tireless guys always managed to dash to the end of the finish line, shotput a little farther, and jump a little higher all to prove who the elite really were.

I thought that the team showed a lot of heart. We competed well with few numbers and several freshmen on varsity.

Taking it easy! Girls track takes a break from all their events.
Uuuugh!! Meredith Macuk uses all her strength to chunk the shot put.
Run girls, run! Serina Baltimore hands off the baton to Tanya Cook for the next leg of the relay.

FIRED UP AND READY TO GO

-GIRLS TRACK-

Runners, take your positions! This year girls track team was fired up and ready to go. After long vigorous practices filled with many hours of aches and pains, these girls pulled through to make it a great year. From a headache to a painful pulled muscle, whether it was raining and cold or the sun shining bright, you could see this group of dedicated girls on the track no matter what!

This year something new happened here at Taylor that was needed for a long time, a new track! In years past, the track teams were forced to run through or jump over the pot holes of our rotting track. The new track let our teams avoid the problems of the past and work harder on their events to improve this year's times and performances. The agility and endurance that these girls had was proven in the end when things were topped off by heading to regionals.

Taking the place of Coach Dee Jones, Coach Mike Tennill did an excellent job with the girls, especially with this being his first year. He worked with them long and hard, and he gave them challenges and obstacles to overcome and you can bet with the amount of heart and dedication that was put in, these girls proved a successful year!

This year the Varsity track team participated in the regional track meet held in San Antonio. Next year we hope to return and place even higher.

WELL DESERVING CHAMPIONS

-TENNIS-

Last year proved to be very memorable for the Taylor varsity tennis team. Great strides were made when we captured the district team tennis title. This honor was one that had been long deserved. Not only did Taylor seize the district title in the fall, but the team also qualified two doubles teams, one girls and one guys, for regionals in the spring. In addition, six varsity players were honorably named to the first all district tennis team.

These successes were the product of extreme hard work and perseverance. The team practiced strenuously together during the weekdays in the rain, snow (ha!), sleet, or shine. Individuals often times got in extra practice over the weekend in addition to the numerous tournaments. The unforgettable winning legacy of the 1994-95 Taylor Tennis Team will never be forgotten.

All of the people on the tennis team play because they want to. We all strive to achieve the best and that's exactly what we did. Go Team!

-VARSITY GOLF-

The THS golf team worked for a successful year this season and performed competitively in all tournaments. Coach Danny Potts scheduled several tournaments for the team this season allowing all players to gain valuable playing experience. With an extensive pre-district schedule, the Ducks showed their true colors. All of the Duck players came out and showed that they could perform to a very high caliber. The Varsity Ducks bolted into district play and played well at Leon Valley, Western Oaks, Hancock Park, Meadowlakes, Balcones, and Mustang Creek courses. This season's varsity team was composed of three seniors and the rest were juniors who will be returning next year, seeking the help of some of the junior varsity players who will step up a level. The golf team boasts the achievements of All District players Tracy Dominguez and Mason Miller. The THS golfers can feel proud for their winning performance this year and the success that they achieved.

A FORCE TO BE RECKONED WITH

- JUNIOR VARSUTY GOLF-

The junior varsity golf team had a good year as we prepared ourselves for the varsity level. Coach Danny Potts said he was pleased with all of our hard work and effort put forth this season. With each tournament, we improved our games and progressed from young golfers to accomplished players. By the end of the season, the team had grown closer because of our teamwork which helped us all perform better. The team seemed to have undergone a complete metamorphosis into well-rounded golfers. Although, this was a small JV team, we knew what had to be done to do well in tournaments. So, we all worked hard and practiced as much as we could. For all of our efforts we have proven ourselves as good golfers and as good sportsmen. Looking forward, if we put forth the same effort, we should be a force to be reckoned with.

This year we put it all together and performed great. While strengthening our golfing technique, we had a lot of fun and made some good memories.

SHAPING A NEW BEGINNING

-POWERLIFTING-

Uuuuurrrrr!!! This was a common sound heard throughout the weight room this year. For the first time, Taylor put together a powerlifting program. With long work-outs that totally exhausted us, each athlete poured their hearts and souls into shaping another Taylor Duck athletic program. In a sport where it was just you against the weight, many young men stood up to take a shot at this new competition. The chance to be successful drove the Duck "Ironmen" forward into an outstanding first year.

The season began with a 5:30 a.m. drive to Stephenville, Texas. It was here that the men learned what the year would be like and how hard we would have to work to achieve success. After that, it was on to a smaller meet in Lockhart. This was where the "Mighty Ducks" started coming of age. Next, we went to Bastrop. Once again, the Ducks stepped-up and brought home more medals. At the last two meets the Duck "Ironmen" went wild bringing home yet more medals and some even continued on to regionals.

This powerlifting season proved to be a great experience for both the coaches and the students. We learned to believe in ourselves, set goals for ourselves, and work hard to achieve those goals.

When you love kids and want to help them achieve success, the job switches from being work to sheer enjoyment.

-NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY-

This year twenty-five new members were inducted into the National Honor Society by a candle-light ceremony. At this ceremony the members pledged to follow the guidelines given to them. They also pledged that they would continue to be the outstanding students they were.

One of the requirements that all members had to do was volunteer some of their time. Many of us took advantage of the Rotary Banquet to perform our volunteer work, while others helped around the community. Whatever it was, we enjoyed the satisfaction it gave us to help others. NHS was not all work, however. One of the high points of the year was going to Murphy Park for the NHS workday. The day was filled with activities and scheduled meetings. The most important part of the day was the election of the new officers. Plans were made for the '95-96 school year; we needed service projects for the organization, and of course, the new officers needed to know their responsibilities. It was nice to have the time to get away and make our plans, but before we knew it, the day was over, and we went back to doing our hard work at school.

"We're one of them now!" Michael Hammack, Sam Windham, Shelly Roznovak, Mason Miller, and Eric Leshikar are honored at the NHS inition.
"More tea?" Justin Strickland volunteers his time at the Honor Graduates Banquet.
"Congratulations." Trissa Campbell shakes Mr. Ruthven's hand as she becomes a member of NHS.

BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY

-STUDENT SENATE-

Taylor High School's Student Senate represents leadership. This year our student government tried to stretch beyond the call of duty and attempted to make our school a more suitable place to spend our days. By holding leadership conferences, our Student Senate was willing to reach out to the student body in order to produce individual leaders who could guide our school toward a better tomorrow.

By interacting with the student body, Student Senate was able to hurdle a few big obstacles and accomplish some major goals. But, while they may have not fulfilled all their hopes for our school, this year's Student Senate members got a standard for leaders of the future to follow.

THE WORLD OF WISDOM

-ESPRIT-

ESPRIT had a lot of fun this year experiencing and discovering a whole new store of knowledge. From learning about the Holocaust to going to see the musical Cats, members of this special organization were never short of opportunities to appreciate the wonderful world of wisdom. As well as being stimulating to the mind, the field trips to museums and businesses were also a total blast. The academic classes also offered a lot of interesting pieces of information we were able to add to our intellect. All in all, ESPRIT members, meeting monthly, had a fantastic time together while taking on new ideas and new understandings.

LEARNING ABOUT THE PAST

-JUNIOR HISTORIANS-

Helping others. A group of junior historians pose with Mrs. Livingood as they work to establish a scholarship in her honor.

This was the second year Junior Historians had been here at THS. Last year was a very fulfilling year, and this year was even better. We served as hosts and hostesses for Local History Days, the Tour of Homes at Christmas, both of which were for Taylor Heritage Society. The Junior Historians also donated enormous amounts of goods to coat and food drives such as Real Santa. We also bought and dedicated Red Oak trees to our Taylor High Vets for Veteran's Day. Then at the end of the year, we went on a field trip to Austin to tour the capital with the architect who was in charge of renovation. On the trip we also saw congress in session, as well as a trial. We also visited the Barbara Jordan exhibit and Mexi Carte Art Gallary where we learned a lot about history, which was what being a Junior Historian was all about.

Holocaust Survivor. The THS Jr. Historians give a "Friend of the School Children of Texas" plaque of appreciation to Mike Jacobs.

STILL RUNNING STRONG

-K-DUC-

5, 4, 3, 2, 1, 0....Good morning and here are today's K-duc announcements! For the second year now, we were running strong. K-duc usually produced two shows a week. One on Wednesday, basically for announcements and updates, and a Friday show usually involving specials on big school events.

It was a lot of hard work to put together a five minute show to be aired in front of the whole school! Besides putting it all together, music was a very big factor. The shows always looked more professional when the music fit perfectly with the film. It was more eye catching! Also, getting the footage could be very difficult. Most of the time we had to haul our cameras to the location of the event just to get about three minutes of footage. Yet, we had to film for about thirty minutes.

Although K-duc conferences didn't take place as often as the year before, the ones that did take place, Josh messed up! Anyway, we hope K-duc will stay with Taylor High School for a long time! Long live Volek's lectures, paint on the walls, Beatles posters, Louie's extra special, Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders, the guys closet and all the other wonderful things involved with K-duc!

I told you! Josh Schroeder always thinks that he knows everything that is going on.
Good morning! Abby Turner and Steve Cornell are making the morning announcements, but they look like they are still asleep.

Everybody say cheese! Tessa Rhoades is known for roaming around with her camera, catching those unforgetable moments for K-duc.

Testing, one, two. Tessa Rhoades, Shelly Roznovak, and Libby Littlejohn practice talking in the microphone.

"THE RIVERS AND RAVINES"

-ONE ACT PLAY-

With a fifteen member cast, composed largely of first time thesbians, and of these, four were freshmen, you'd think we would be in for a rough year of acting in the One Act Play. Never-the-less, this year's production of "The Rivers and Ravines" was one of the best productions we have had in years. With Dan Volek at the helm, six hard working seniors backing him up, and many talented underclassmen, our production of a small rural Colorado community earned us the status of alternate play at the UIL District Contest.

Since we were in a new district, we were unaware of the usual outcome of several schools performances. There was an enormous amount of tention in the air as we patiently awaited the awards ceremony. After a few tears from some and a few laughs from others, we were proud to hear that we had received alternate play. This was the third year Taylor had gone that far. The night was young and although our final performance was over, we knew that in our hearts "The Rivers and Ravines" would always be flowing.

We know Volek, now can we go?! Members of the one act play anxiously await contest.

Is that enough? Jennifer Neitsch gets ready for showtime.
If I'm not a farmer, then what am I? Tessa Rhoades and Eric Leshikar try to portray the loving Ethlyn and Ray.

1995 Taylor High School One Act Play Cast.

Rub it in! Mr. Volek applies the necessary make up to Tessa Rhoades to create Ethlyn Macormick.

Isn't he the cutest thing? Andrew Littlejohn waits nervously, in makeup, for his time to go on.

Is he crying! Allison Behrends and Abby Turner try to feel director and reporter.

Look at our special talent! It took many hours to perfect certain parts of the play.

A Kodak moment! Caleb (Josh Schroeder), Wordy (Andrew Littlejohn) and Maudaline (Allison Jones) make the cutest family.

HIGH ON LIFE

-STUDENTS UNITED FOR RESPONSIBLE FUN-

Students United for Responsible Fun was at its largest membership this year. And it's not a question of why, when you stop to think about all the fun (or should I say weird?!) activities we planned.

One of the first SURF fun nights was Crud Wars. Students broke into groups and literally made a mess. We dumped crud on any and everybody that got in our way.

Another SURF fun night was velcro wall jumping. Yes, you read that right--wall jumping! To do this, you had to put on a velcro suit then you jumped (or were flipped) onto the wall. You can bet there was plenty of awkward but hilarious positions.

The SURF leadership conference was one of our main events. It took place at the beginning of the year. Selected members and class representatives spent the day at Granger Lake goofing around and playing games. Then, the night was spent at high school (a lock-in....scary!), where plans for upcoming events were made.

In all the fun we had with SURF, we still have to remember one thing, SURF was organized to show us that we could have fun without drugs and alcohol.

Am I cool or what?! Brack Farr bares all at the SURF Disco Toga Party.
Crud rules! This group of seniors are celebrating their victory in Crud Wars.
O.k. guys, you can let me down now! Tanya Holub experiences the world from a different view at the velcro wall jumping at one of SURF's fun nights.

I'm getting very sleepy. Kevin Hennington enjoys a relaxing afternoon at the Leadership Conference.
We're born to be bad! Shanna Bozovsky, Mandy Tennill, and Melinda Stansbury show off their outfits at the Disco Toga Party.
This isn't as easy as it looks! Matt Maruska and Mason Miller try to keep their balance at the Leadership Conference.

A NEW EXPERIMENT

-SCIENCE CLUB-

Being a member of the Science Club demonstrated to us that science can stimulate us as well as show us a good time. This year the Science Club planned many different activities, but the main trip was to Boerne, Texas to visit the famous Cascade Caverns. Waking up at five, and enduring the long bus ride over there was well worth it. The caves were awesome and scary! The day ended at Peppers, a restaurant in San Marcous, where we ate lunch before coming back to school.

Organizing this trip was not the easiest thing in the world to do. We sold candy as a fund raiser to help defray the costs. The candy money not only paid for our trip, but it also provided two $250 scholarships for well deserving senior Science Club members. The scholarships helped the recipients pursue an education in a science related field.

Participating in this trip and other activities made us realize that science was not only numbers and equations but also a way to see the world with a more scientific eye.

You mean we have to go back already! Brett Gola is upset to see one of the Science Clubs trips ending.

Smile! The Science Club members who visted the Cascade Caverns stop to take a picture to remember this trip by.

The three musketeers, Tanya Houb, Keisha Risper, and Tracy Dominquez pause in front of one the Cascade Caverns' lakes.

"Get me out of here." Sterling Brinson seems to think as he waits.
How much is this going to cost? Scott Scruggs figures out the cost of a trip.
Wake up! Matt Hammack is exhausted after a long trip to the caverns.

1994-95 Science Club officers: Sterling Brinson, Jennifer Winkler, Tracy Jezek, Libby Littlejohn, Matt Parsons.

SPRECHEN SIE DEUTSCH

-GERMAN CLUB-

Led by Mrs. Jackson, the German Club had a busy and profitable year. One of the club's goals was to have projects to not only help the club, but the community at the some time. An activity they planned in order to make our school a better place was planting new flowers in the beds located in the front of the school. German Club's work in the garden was much appreciated by our school and community.

In addition to helping the community the club participated in contests and activities were they represented Taylor High well. In order to raise money to send them to the competitions and on other trips they worked vigorously selling candles from Fredricksburg, this was their major fund raiser of the year. German Club attended contests in Houston and Waco bringing home several awards. Also, they traveled to the annual Wurstfest in New Braunfels where club members learned important facts about their German heritage in a different way. Over the Christmas holidays Mrs. Jackson took the group on their annual fun filled trip to Six Flags. The German Club was a great opportunity for students to be educated and have fun at the same time. Mrs. Jackson is extremely proud of her fine group of students.

Are they growing yet? Students worked vigorously on keeping the school flower beds up to blossom throughout the year.

Candles, anyone? Selling candles was one of the most profitable projects this year.

Strike a pose! German Club members took a quick break for a picture at Wurstfest.
Taking a break! Mrs. Jackson stops to figure out where to go next.
Guten Tag! Bradley Hargis and Phillip Zimmerhanzel are happy to be in Europe. Hope they remember thier German

SUNNY LANUAGE

-SPANISH CLUB-

Being in the Spanish Club this year was very interesting and exciting. We did many activities that taught us about the language. Also, whatever level you were in, the area that you focused on most was the Hispanic culture. This area included the celebration of different fiestas and traditions. For example, we had "el cinco de mayo" celebration. The Spanish I class enjoyed a play performed by first and second graders at Northside and T.H. Johnson Elementary. The youngsters went into the THS auditorium to demonstrate many traditional Spanish and Mexican dances for our pleasure.

Earlier in the year, a few of us went to compete against other schools in a wide range of activities. Some of us read poems in Spanish; others displayed exhibits that focused on the Spanish and Mexican culture. In the poem reading, the better our accents were and the easier we could recite them, the better chance we had to win.

These experiences gave us another opportunity to see the benefits of Spanish. At first we were learning for grades and tests, but after a while, it became fun and interesting. We got to prove to the other schools that we could express and understand this "sunny" language and culture called Spanish.

Your right foot in; you put your right foot out---Mrs. Delgado is passionately teaching Andres Flores one of the numerous typical hispanic dances.
Isn't it cool?! Melissa Hernandez, Christina Chavana, Elsa Gamez, Celia Diaz, and Andrea Dominguez are proud to be a part of the Hispanic Heritage Month.
I'm all that, plus a bag of chips! David Alderete seems to enjoy being in Spanish class.

Spanish III. Rebecca Kautz, Kathy Baker, Amanda Reyes, Nancy Pina, Veronica Alderete, Becky Alderete, David Alderete, Miguel Gauna, Humberto Lopez, Andres Flores, Mrs Delgado, and Mrs. Curtis.

All in a day's work. Amanda Reyes is studying hard to learn this great language.

I know the answer! Humberto Lopez is excited because he has translated the sentence.

1994-95 Spanish Club Members.

I hope we don't mess up! First and second graders entertain us for "el cinco de mayo."

NOT TRUELY A DEAD LANUAGE

-LATIN CLUB-

"Et tu Brute?" For a club devoted to a dead lanuage, the Latin Club appeared to be thriving this year. Boasting one of the largest memberships of any of the foreign lanuage clubs, the organization managed to perticipate in numerous activities annually. Throughout the fall, the club raised funds in the concession stand during the football games, so that during the spring they could travel. In December, the Latin Club provided Christmas gifts for disadvantaged childern. The high point of the year was the Ides of March celebration which showcases students projects reflecting Latin culture. This past year was no different, and included in the exhibit was everything from period weapons to model aquaducts. These activities were designed to expand the students knowledge and appreciation of Latin. Of course, it wasn't all hard work. The annual trek to Six Flags was perhaps the most fun even though it rained...and rained...and rained some more. Proof positive of the growing popularity of the "dead" language was the necessity to create a Latin III class last year for the fitst time. Apparently, Latin has a good chance of being resusitated.

We speak Pig-Latin, does that count, ask Virginia Carpenter, and Jennifer Enochs.
Circus Maximums This loks like a flea circus muses Brice Beocker, Micheal Majors, Terry Ortiz, and Brian Carzalas.
Hook'em Caesar. Mike Lawrence explains to Kevin Widmier what Marc Antony really said to Julius.

What a sweet stadium, Jacob Ramos and Karyn Schaefer view the sugar cube model of the Roman racetrack. "Go ahead, make my day!" Robert Linton cocks the Roman crossbow in the Ides of March of display.

Latin Club members: First row: Kim Wright, Melissa Ford, Matt Parsons, Mathias Muegge, Ryan Nelson, John Ng, Hunter Hargis, Jimmy Wright, Eric Ross, Jeremy Rathke. Second row: Rhea Urbis, Karyn Schaefer, Kristen Stiles, Heather Haverland, Mason Miller, Mathew Pullen, Steven Wilson, Sara Mueck, Brian Caldwell. Third row: Octavia Tolaver, Deborah Salazar, Stephanie Torres, Melissa Lawrence, Marrianne Zrubek, Amanda Schwartz, Tracy Jezek, Libby Littlejohn, Shelly Roznovak, Abby Turner, Jennifer Winkler, Julie Janak, Shelia Tealer, Jennifer Henry, Nicole Felder. Fourth row: Dana Carpenter, Christina Alderete, Carie Minzenmayer, Sherri Marcon, Jennifer Johnson, Sam Windham, Melanie Behrends, Matt Hammock, Matt Maruska, Travis Winkler, Brandon Hanacik, Michael Leshber, Kevin Widmer, Jonathan King, Jason Martin, Andrea Mokry. Fifth row: Kaye Schaefer (teacher), Courtney Michna, Jared Fox, Brian Dennis, Barrett Sutton, Robert Linton, Jacob Ramos, Sterling Brinson, Shane Stiles, Brad Schmidt, Eric Moehnke, Todd Cater, Raymond Stefek, Eric Tallas, Virginia Carpenter, Jayln George, Laurie Cmerek, Amy Bozovsky, Mandy Tennill. Sixth row: Jeff Stefek, James Reeves, Ryan Lear, Mike Lawrence, Mark Lawrence, Brandon George, Jennifer Gaswint.

THE GIFT OF SONG

-CHOIR-

How could musically talented students express themselves and have fun? A chosen few decided to do all these through singing. With our talent and dedication, the choir went far this year. Needless to say, our schedules were full. The group started off the year performing in the annual Homecoming Banquet. Over the fall season, two concerts were performed. In December, the singers put on a holiday production which was a combination of the T.H. Johnson, Middle School, and High School choirs. In February, we participated in the solo and ensamble contests. The ensamble did well with its "Pop Swing" theme, and the three soloists, Keithon Gipson, Kathleen Koenig, and Sandy Gonzales advanced into state competition with their rendition of the Italian "Aria." In March, the choir combined with the orchestra for a benefit for the St. Vincent de Paul's medical fund. Throughout the spring we provided music for numerous study, service, and women's clubs. Near the end of this year, with both the treble and mixed choir, we did the Cabere "a tribute to Hollywood." In this massive show, we had "Fiddler on the Roof," "Oklahoma," and "West Side Story." Of course, being in choir wasn't all hard work. We had a good time, especially on the annual spring trip. While on our voyage to Dallas, we went to Planet-Hollywood.

Listen up. Mrs. Bartosh directs the choir on the do's and don'ts of singing.
Do-re-me-fa.... Tammie Stacey, Misty Vanderford, Misha Kimble, and Sharlene Pittman are caught in their warm-up exercises.
What's next? April Frazier and Susan Zepeda go through a new routine.

1994-95 Choir I officers: First row: Kathleen Koenig, Regina Baltimore, Serina Baltimore, Patsy Bartosh (Director). Second row: Tracey Schievelbein, Keithon Gipson, Shelia Tealer.

The 1994-95 Choir II officers: Marlena Diaz, Amy Gonzales, Sharlene Pittman.

All-State Choir! Keithon Gipson received a full scholarship to LSU for his outstanding voice.
Sing yourselves to sleep. Apparantly, Kathleen Koenig and Tracey Schievelbein shouldn't sing lullabies.

A SPECIAL TALTENT

-THE BAND-

Line...Space...Middle...Space...Line. The Taylor High band performs at one of our football games.

I need to take a breath! Marty Ruble plays his tuba during class.

This doesn't look too hard! Lawrence Kern, Martin Orandy, Ryan Nelson, Steven Wright, Mark Dozier, and Jonathan Houston practice their music for upcoming events.

I hope I can catch this! Kathy Baker, Lindsey Jahn, Kelly Hewitt, and Susan Strimiska entertain the crowd with their twirling routine.

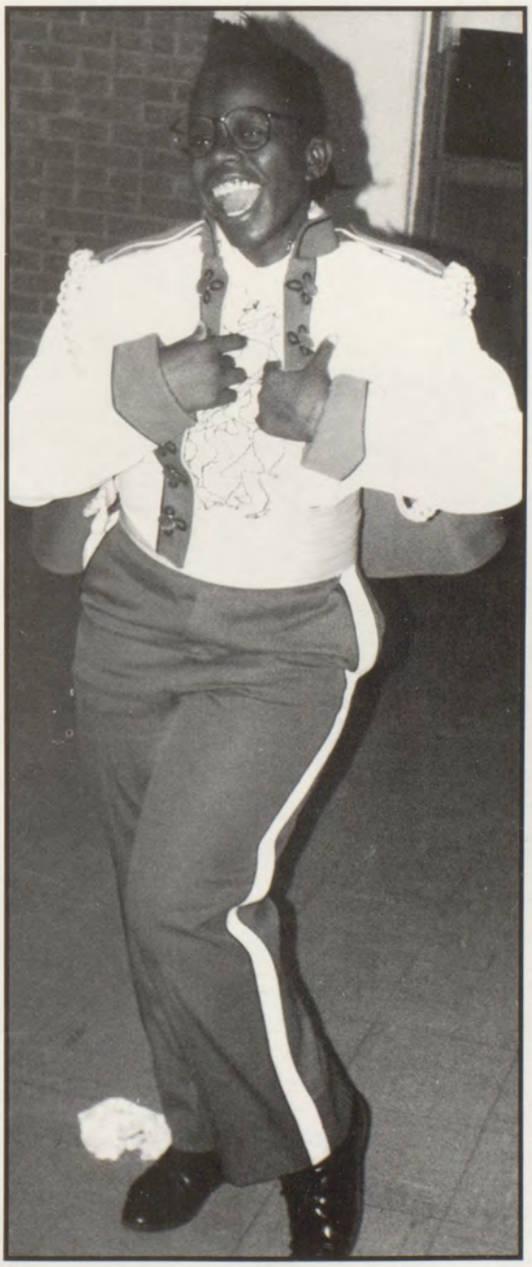

To succeed in band, you need the ability to play a musical instrument, work hard, and have spirit....all at the same time. It was apparent throughout this year's performances that the band had it all.

Band began in early August, before school started, with long, sweaty practices, preparing for halftime shows and contests. Then, in marching season, the band received a III rating in U.I.L., and in the Capital City Music Festival, we placed third and the color guard placed second. At the All-American Music Festival in Florida, the band received a I rating and the title of Outstanding Band. At the band's final contest, we received a II concert rating and a III sight reading rating.

The THS band also produced district, regional, and state qualifiers this year. District qualifiers were Jason Cervenka, Trey Krueger, and Mark Murdock. Regionalists were Jason Cervenka and Mark Murdock. The state qualifiers were Kathy Baker, Jason Cervenka, and Lindsay Jahn. Great job, band!

I got this under control! Scott Blanchard rehearses his music before the pep rally.
Are you ready for the show of your life?! Keithon Gipson salutes as he prepare for the half time show.
You go girl! Ruby Fields shows us her winning attitude.
Oops! Wrong way! Mark Dozier gets turned around after the half time show.
This routine is a breeze! Susan Strimiska is performing her half-time routine.

Fun in the sun! Kathy Baker enjoys the band trip to Florida.
This is my new best friend! Martin Oranday finds a new partner in crime while visiting Disney World.
Grr! My pizza! Scott Blanchard is devouring his long awaited supper.

Hurry up and take the picture already! Lisa Haag waits for her picture as the bus departs for Florida.

Just me and my teddy! Jennifer Enochs is excited about her six day band trip where she will see the Magical Kingdom.

Watch the birdie! Band members stop for a quick pose.
Come on wave at the camera! Melissa Lawrence and Trey Kruger have fun while exploring Frontier Land.
I wonder what we are doing next?! Jennifer Enochs, Jeremy Rathke, and Melissa Lawrence take a break at University High School.
We are so stuffed! Jennifer Enochs and Jason Cervenka finish eating at a restaurant in Epcot.
Yes, we can stop for a picture. Jaime Lannen and Suzanne Strmiska take time for a quick picture before going on the water slides.

1 te, 2 te. Band prepares to play for Uil Contest.
Boom, boom, boom! Vanneta Mckinney does her job in the music by playing the tympany.
Come on smile for the camera! Here are two of our favorite band members, Band Beau Martin Orandy and Band Sweetheart Patsy Charles.

Wow, don't we sound good! The band is practicing for the UIL contest.
I wonder if I could read the music better if my eyes were open? Kiethon Gipson attempts to play his horn with his eyes shut.

Drill Instructors/Officers: Front row: Kelly Hewitt, Suzanne Strmiska, Crista Ward, Sandy Gonzales. Second row: Spencer Maxwell, Mark Dozier, Trey Kruger, Kiethon Gipson, Rebecca Kautz. Third row: Scott Blanchard, Mark Murdock, Stephen Wright, Martin Orandy, Jason Cervenka.

Band has really been fun this year. I think the change in the band program has been for the better. I'm sure that the program will continue to grow and soon will be one of the top band programs in Texas.

-Kiethon Gipson

RAIN OR SHINE WE'RE ON THE SIDELINE

-CHEERLEADERS-

Come on crowd, stand up and holler! We must admit, cheering for our football team this year wasn't quite as difficult as in years past. Since the guys were winning, our crowd of devoted Taylor Duck fans actually let loose and screamed their hearts out!

No one ever knew what was gonna happen on the field or on the court for that matter, so we always had to be prepared for anything! With one movement of the ball, we could be yelling offense when we should be yelling defense. So, we tried to keep up chants that the crowd knew. This way they could join in to support the team.

Although the crowd was responding better this year, we still experienced some hard times. At the beginning of football season, one of Varsity's teammates left the squad. We were in a slight bind for a while, and no one really understood how difficult it was to work with only seven people when we were used to eight. Then a freshman cheerleader was moved up to Varsity to fill the empty position. At first this caused tension between Varsity and JV, but we worked through our differences and became the closest of friends!

Seniors at last! Heather Haverland, Brandy Roznovak, and Tessa Rhoades pose with Mrs. Mo at a game for the last time.
Yeah! After the Belton game, Brandy Roznovak, Libby Littlejohn, Tessa Rhoades, and Shelly Roznovak show their excitement that the Ducks are now District Champs!

Cheerin' for playoffs! JV and Varsity unite to build a huge pyramid!
Yell with us! The JV cheerleaders use their magaphones to keep the crowd involved at the games!
Don't drop her, again! Senior, Heather Haverland, grits her teeth hoping for a safe return to the ground!

Cheeze! Senior, Brandy Roznovak, cheers hard at a pep rally.

GO DUCKS! Tessa Rhoades, a Varsity cheerleader, cheers on the winning Duck team.

Play that funky music! Justin Moldenhour, Varsity mascot, uses his green sax to raise the crowds spirit.

Wild and crazy gals! Libby Littlejohn, Tracy Jezek, Shelly Roznovak, April Hennington, Heather Haverland, Tessa Rhoades, and Jennifer Winkler celebrate after the Ducks beat Reagan!

Awesome! Sara Mata and the JV squad show off their stunting abilities.

CHAMPIONS BY HEART

-CHEERLEADERS-

Once again caught with their hair up! The junior cheerleaders get ready for a good nights sleep with their hair in rollers.

For the third consecutive year, the internationally ranked cheerleaders won a bid to compete in the International Open Cheerleader Championships in Nashville, TN. We knew this would be the toughest year ever, especially for Varsity defending our first place title! JV was also looking to improve upon our ninth place finish. Although Varsity placed lower than last year, we were very proud of our third place finish and our award for best stunts, after all the dilemas we faced this year. JV reached our goal by placing fourth and winning the creativity award.

In addition to the awards won by the squads, there were also individual winners. The Duck mascots, Justin Moldenhour and Misty Vanderford, also took part in competition. We are very proud to have the first two cheerleaders from Taylor to be named to Team America. Tessa Rhoades was named to the senior team and April Hennington was named to the junior team. Once again the Duck Cheerleaders came home champions, if not by title, then by heart!

Team America girls! For the first time in Taylor history, senior Tessa Rhoades and fish April Hennington made it all the way to be on Team America.
Silence please....announcing Taylor Varsity from Taylor, Texas. The Varsity squad busts an attitude during their performance in finals.

JV Cheerleaders: Trissa Campbell, Ryan Stevens, Amber Johle, Courtney Kaiser, Tisha Gonzales, Misty Vanderford (mascot), Sara Mata, Angie Bachmeyer (not pictured).

Posing proud! The JV Cheerleaders show off their creativity trophy.
Cheeze it! JV smiles for the camera while waiting for Varsity to compete.
Howdy Y'all! The sophomores stop for a quick pic in the airport.
Taylor Junior Varsity! JV poses for their official Nashville picture.
Smile big! Amber Johle and Sara Mata say cheeze at the awards ceremony.

Clowning around! Tracy Jezek and Libby Littlejohn show us their facial expressions!
Opryland Hotel. The beautiful location of the IOCC.
Waiting is the worst! Some of Varsity sits patiently waiting for the finalist announcements.

FLASHY, EXCITING, EXTRAVAGANT

-STEPPERS-

CHANGE-- that's what this year has been about. More opportunities, more challenges, and more rewards.

We began our year with summer camp. It consisted of one long week during August that we learned our football routines. At that time, the search for a new sponsor was still in progress. By the end of the first month of school, our search was over. We found two willing ladies to take over the jobs, Cerrita Rowell and Teresa Ratliff.

One of our opportunities was a big one. The officers were offered a chance to perform in the Alamo Bowl on New Year's Eve. The only problem was the lack of money. They had many fund raisers, such as garage sales and car washes, to raise the $500 for each officer to participate. The officers finally made it to the Alamo Bowl and had many long hours of practice and perfection. As the day of the performance came, they knew they would show the crowd exactly what kind of talent comes out of Taylor High School.

A new challenge was given to the Hi-Steppers by the band. They asked if we would make their halftime show more flashy, exciting, and more extravagant. We gladly accepted the challenge. During the football season, we not only performed our usual high kick or pom routine, but we also included a flashy flag routine to make the halftime show more colorful. Although we had more responsibilities, we successfully fulfilled our duties with high kicks and smiles to the best of our abilities.

94-95 Stepper Officers: Tara Hays, Shontel Hubbard, Amy Terrazas, Leslie Blackmon, Kristen Stiles, Abby Turner, Tammy Machu, Amy Torres.

5, 6, 7, 8,... Heather Rhoades and Scarlet Porter perform their chair routine.

Hold that pose! Amy Torres shows how she finishes a perfect routine.

Ta-da! Tara Hays remembers her final position and look at that girl smile!

Ouch! The Hi-Steppers show how flexible they are by landing a perfect pop-split.

1994-95 Steppers: First row: Tara Hays, Kristen Stiles. Second row: Abby Turner, Tammy Machu, Shontel Hubbard, Amy Terrazas, Amy Torres, Leslie Blackmon. Third row: Rebecca Gonzales, Pam Clayton, Marisa Chavarria, Patsy Charles, Jennifer Balusek, Brandy Almeida. Fourth row: Sheila Tealer, Heather Rhoades, Allison Vrana, Leslie Johnson, Veronica Alderete, Elsa Gutierrez. Fifth row: Scarlet Porter, Kelbi Dlouhy, Janet Eschberger, Melanie Behrends, Rosalyn Torres. Sixth row: Samantha Garza, Monique Cantu, Syrissa Balusek, Ritta Zachary, Laurie Mayer, Kym Thomas.

Look at my gold flags!! Patsy Charles helps the band add color to the half-time show.

Lights Out.. and the Steppers still pull off an astonishing routine.

Showing their stuff! The Steppers perform a pom routine to some jamin' music.

Support from the sideline...Kelbi Dlouhy and Samantha Garza watch as the guys pull off another winning game.

"God Bless Texas." The Steppers performed an awesome high kick routine and received an Applause award.

Look what we got! The '94-95 officers show off all their trophies.

Hi!! Tara Hays and a group of friends pause to smile for the camera.

"Way to go!" Some of our Stepper Officers show thier abilitiy.

"Batman!" The seniors perform their last routine together and end the year with a bang!

LET'S GO TO THE MOVIES

-STEPPERS-

Throughout the year, Steppers worked toward one main event, contest! This year was our second year at the Showtime International Contest in San Antonio. We received higher honors this year at contest due to the addition of new routines, and our more experienced officers knew what to expect. The team as a whole did outstanding. We came back with a division "1" rating on all three of our routines and received the sweepstakes award. The officers did just as well. They came back with best in category kick, best in category pom, and they also won sweepstakes. Then, to top off our contest, Kristen Stiles was one of the top eight solo finalists out of 250 girls; the first finalist from Taylor High School.

The only other thing Steppers had to look forward to after contest was Spring Show. The theme this year was "Let's go to the Movies!" We used soundtracks from many movies and the show turned out well. What a way to finish off a great year other than with an awesome finale, Spring Show.

Solo finalist. Kristen Stiles dances her way to the top eight at contest.
"The House is a Rockin'." A pom routine was one of the three routines performed at contest.
I can't believe it's over! Abby Turner, Samantha Garza and Heather Rhoades smile for the camera one last time.
The "Low-Steppers!" A group of guys performed a routine to the "Flintstones."

AN INTEREST IN BUSINESS

-BUSINESS PROFESSIONALS OF AMERICA-

Business Professionals of America is a group of young, talented students taking interest in the business part of the world. We learned what it was like to actually work in a real office and what it took to run a business. We also learned that it wasn't all that easy!

This organization consisted of students who had taken at least one of these five courses: Accounting, Business Information Processing, Business Office Support Services, Office Administration, and Office Support System. Some of the Students took it a step higher by being in the Office Administrative Coop. Having taken these courses, we received experiences on a lot of the things you use now in the business world.

Many of us took advantage of the coop program and took on the responsibility of a part time job that was spread throughout the community. These opportunties benefited everyone. The employers got to teach us the value of keeping a job, and we gained the knowledge that helped us in our careers today (not to mention the big bucks!).

Another thing associated with BPA was going to contest. At area contest in Pflugerville, thirteen of us qualified for state contest in Houston. This and everything else was what made being a member of BPA fun and exciting.

Peace! Even the group that went to BPA contest can stop for a funny pose.

Come on and take the picture already! Alice Hejl and Lorrie Faltesek stop for a picture at BPA contest.

This is going to be a piece of cake. Jennifer Ward reviews for the BPA contest.

BPA Officers: First row: Jennifer Ward, Pam Clayton, Alice Hejl, Eloy Alderete, Kim Wright, Candy Patschke.
Go me! Lorrie Faltesek proudly displays her BPA State Award.
Cheeeese! Trina Burba and Diana Safarik take a break from all the hard work at BPA contest in Houston.

TEACHING TOMORROW'S CHILDREN

-FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA-

Future Teachers of America combined various dedicated students into a group for the purpose of working together and helping others. Meeting as much as possible, we united our minds and came up with some brilliant ideas which benefited ourselves and the less fortuate.

One program, which we incorporated with the Latin Club, was adopting a foster child. The chance to brighten up a small child's Christmas created a wonderful feeling for the whole club to enjoy. The student teaching activities also invited chances to get to know a little better what it was really like to be a teacher. This was a perfect opportunity for those in the organization who hoped to become a teacher in the future.

Another worth while program was the teacher appreciation week. By setting aside just one week of the school year to do special things for Taylor High teachers, we were to prove our admiration and respect for the educators in our school.

Finally, the district and state conventions were, as always, the most enjoyable events of the year. Getting to know how a state wide organization's government operated supplied a useful amount of knowledge. And, besides being educational, these trips were also a lot of fun. Who knew learning didn't actually have to be boring?

Hmmm....Melanie Behrends and Martin Oranday think about what it means to be a teacher.
Smile pretty now! This group of dedicated students take a quick pic before going to their next workshop.
Taking a break. Carrie Nicholson and Chad Farmer relax in between sessions at the state convention.

Just five more minutes! Brian Dennis waits for the next program to begin.
Hungry? Vanessa Dykowski and Melanie Behrends grab a bite to eat at the Red Lion Hotel.
Listen carefully! Martin Oranday and Melanie Behrends try to concentrate on what the T.F.T.A. speaker is saying.

F.T.A. Officers: First row: Martin Oranday, Karyn Schaefer, Melanie Behrends. Second row: Abby Turner, Kristen Stiles, Shane Stiles.

STOP THE PRESSES

-COTTON BOLL-

Stop the presses! Stop the presses! NOT! What can we say...1994-95 was a hectic year for the Cotton Boll. We got off to what we thought was a fast start. Then Homecoming came, and we found out what "fast" really was. Each single issue bred a frenzy of activity in Room 207 as everybody got involved in getting it all together on time and without trying to maim each other. In the midst of this mayhem, we were also learning the elements involved in running a newspaper and the responsibilities of professional journalists.

Layout was a blast this year. Cotton Boll was almost fully computerized, and we tried to do something creative on the front page each time. Remember the illustration on the Homecoming issue?

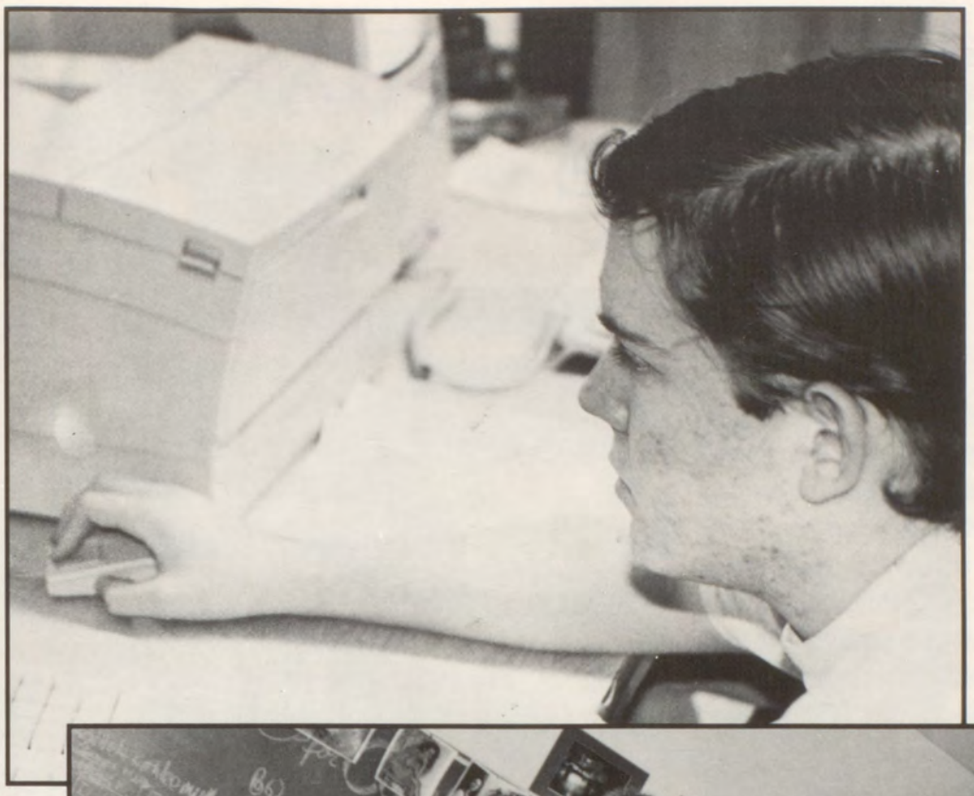

From the advertising department to the photographers, everybody really got into their work. Around deadline, some of us seemed to be possessed, madly typing in correction, sizing pictures, editing, whatever it was we still had left to do--crunch time was always a major stress headache. But when we picked up our 600 copies of each issue from the printers, all that hard work paid off. -Copy by Laura Rios-

Extra! Extra! Read all about it! Mike Laurence, sports editor, decides to add something of his own to the sports page.
Concentrating hard?! Kisha Risper studies one of her layouts for Cotton Boll.
Hello! Cotton Boll. Junior, Sherri Marcon chose to do her ad business over the phone.

Now find just the right word. The creative juices were flowing when Spencer Maxwell began one his many stories.

Big No-No?! Junior, Melanie Behrends worked hard on her controversial T-shirts column.

Hey Kathleen! Junior, Kathleen Koenig was an important part of Cotton Boll when it came to writing stories.

IT'S BETTER TO GIVE THAN TO RECEIVE

-DUCK PALS-

We always hear the saying, "It's better to give, than to receive!" Duck Pals, the peer assisance program, has a way of giving a real meaning to this saying. Through this program that brings responsible high school students into a supportive role with younger students, everybody wins. This year, the students from T.H. Johnson, Northside Elementary, and the Middle School, gained older friends who listened to them, gave them advise, and just hung out with them. The high school students learned what it meant to have someone depend on them, look up to them, and share some good times. This fun program will probably have no problem finding future participants because those who benefit from it in the lower grades will naturally want to be PALS when they get into high school.

What a pal! Mason Miller, Kevin Hennington, Dan Cabaniss, and John Williams pose for a photo.
All school work isn't easy! Melinda Stansbury helps her pal try to figure out a problem.
A little help can go a long way. Karen Remmert enjoys teaching her pal.

The answer is right in front of you. John Williams points out the answers to his pal.
What are you looking at? Melinda Stansbury and Karen Remmert wait patiently for their pals.
You want my autograph?! Dan Cabaniss becomes reknouned with his pals for his enlightening advise.

Duck Pals: First row: Suzanne Stimiska, John Williams, Dan Cabaniss, Mason Miller. Second row: Erika Stuchley, Beth Wolbrueck, Kevin Hennington, Melinda Stansbury, William Mendez. Third row: Karen Remmert, Dannie Volek (teacher).

Ah,...there you go! William Mendez offers some encouragement for his pal.

BUILDERS OF HOMES

-FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA-

"We are the builders of homes, homes for America's future. Homes where truth, love, security and faith will be realities, not dreams." That's what the FHA creed said. We learned how to run a household and how to become a responsible adult. We also found out how to take care of children, manage bills and balance a budget. All of these were different aspects of family life that we needed to be familiar with in later life. When you asked us, members of FHA, what it was about, fun was the first word that came to mind. Being in FHA was a good way to get out of the house and have a good time. It was a way to have responsible fun all over the state of Texas. One such event was going to the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, where the day was filled with fun rides and many laughs. Another one was when we went to the beaches of Corpus Christi where hours were spent baking in the sun. We remembered these events with smiles on our faces.

A HANDS ON EXPERIENCE

-FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA-

There were many different clubs at THS, but if we wanted to learn about things that concerned agriculture and horticulture, then Future Farmers of America was the club to join. FFA provided a great deal of hands on experience so that we could better understand the responsibility involved in taking care of and running a farm. We also did work in class so that we could get a more detailed analysis of the problems that we might face when working with animals. The students also got a chance to put our skills to the test by going to the livestock shows to compete as well as judge some shows. We got to be around different animals and learned what they need to survive and how to take care of them. FFA was an important club at THS and all around the country for furthering the education of farming. As you can see, Future Farmers of America was a very educational experience that was well worth the hard work and time involved.

A LEARNING EXPERIENCE

-INDUSTRIAL COOPERATIVE TRAINING-

ICT - Industrial Cooperative Training - prepared students for employment in occupations classified as skilled or technical, which also included opportunities in the medical field. Many students enrolled in these special classes had the opportunity to go to school half a day and work the other half. ICT helped to prepare students for a "real world" situation while still in a learning environment. Students earned credits for working and also earned money and experience to help them in the future.

ICT Officers: First row: Kristen Stiles, Brandy Almeida, Misty Artieschoufsky. Second row: William Wuensche, Raymond Stefek, Stephen Lefner, Eric Tallas.

Study, study, study. Kristen Stiles works on her ICT homework to prepare for a test the next day.
Hard workers. ICT/DECA went to contest and many students advanced farther this year than in the past few years.

PREPARING FOR THE FUTURE

-DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION COOPERATION OF AMERICA-

DECA - Distributive Education Cooperation of America - employed students at jobs that pertained to the sale of a product, service, or idea. DECA helped prepare students for the "real world" by teaching them how to deal with work situations and the public. Many students wanted and needed to be able to earn their own money. Some students prepared for their future education and some helped out with their family finances. But mainly, DECA helped students acquire work abilities that would be helpful for the many years to come.

DECA Officers: Jennifer Neitsch, Greg Rodriguez, Michael De La Rosa, Gina Martin.

Doing her job. Allison Vrana helps many students everyday and also has time to do the rest of her work.

Sitting in the blue bonnets. These are just a few of the DECA students who did well at contest.

DESIGNING MASTERPIECES

-ART CLUB-

Some people define art as just a branch or aspect of learning. Some people say art is just one of the humanities. One thing is for certain: the production of artistic works requires knowledge and skill. One cannot just paint, draw, design, or sculpt a masterpiece. To gain skill, you have to get experience. You have to practice.

Art classes did a variety of projects such as designing paper-mache figures and painting boxes filled with all sorts of items. They studied the art of technical and shade drawing. Numerous exhibits produced were put on display throughout the school. If you took a look at the art room walls alone, you could see the fierce effort, determination, and creativity found in the Art Club and classes. There was a lot of responsibility in art, but there were good times, too. Art couldn't be all work because creating was fun.

Art Club Officers: First row: Travis Winkler, Tessa Rhoades, Adrian Herrera, Maryellen Luera. Second row: Michelle Flippin, Brad Schmidt, Gabriel Garza.

Quick draw! Raul Menchaca intently studies his new art project.

ENGINEERS FOR THE FUTURE

-TEXAS ALLIANCE FOR MINORITIES IN ENGINEERING-

TAME - Texas Alliance for Minorities in Engineering, but despite the name everyone was welcome. This year's club was a very diverse group indeed. There was a record number of twenty-five members in TAME this year. It was headed up again by Mary Kalbaugh. This was her second year with the group, and everyone enjoyed the great things that she did for us. The club went on several exciting tours and had many interesting meetings. One of the wonderful trips we went on was to the Texas A&M Engineering Department's Annual TAME Day. The group toured all of the different engineering department buildings and laboratories. The entire group would like to thank Mrs. K. for another great year in TAME!

WAITIN' ON SUNDOWN

Elegance, mixed with reflection and fun, can be found in numerous places, including a fashionable street dance of the Old West. Guests at the 1995 Junior-Senior Prom came to this conclusion as they imagined being at the year's social event in a gold mine town of the 1800's. Everyone came in their "Sunday's best" to the party and no one was disappointed.

Preparing for the prom was educational, hard work and a lot fun. As everyone was asked to picture what it would be like to attend a fuction on the streets of an old western town, imaginations flared. Everything from hat shops, general stores, town halls, a saloon, and a jail came into the picture. There was a Boot Hill, a sun setting behind beautiful mountains, and the doors to the restrooms even took on the form of outhouses. The entry to the prom became a realistic and sparkling gold mine.

Cheeese! Freshmen servers. Kelly Wilson. Allison Jones, Hunter Hargis and Allison Behrends take time for a quick pose.

A night of royalty! Eloy Alderete and Amy Terrazas are the 1995 Prom King and Queen.
Are we having fun yet?! This group of seniors show what a great time they are having at the Prom.

Hook 'em Horns....'Gig 'em Ags! These guys showed their support for their baseball teams by periodically checking the score of the game.
Who's that? Suzanne Strmiska struts her stuff across the dance floor.
Yee Haw! These senior girls show their moves on the dance floor.
What'd you say?! Amanda Stence and Cedric Valdez catch up on the latest gossip at school.
What's so funny? Dana Carpenter is not afraid of showing she's having a good time.

"WE HAVEN'T FINISHED YET"

-GRADUATION 1995-

Look at ALL the people! Parents, siblings, aunts, uncles, grandparents, cousins, and friends were staring at us from across the big, green football field. We sat very patiently, lined up in alphabetical order. The sound of our Susan B. Anthony silver dollars clanging together was heard everywhere. Each student's coins were to be donated to the surviving children of the Oklahoma victims.

Finally, it was time to walk! Our heads held high, our steps in sync, each of us remembering to stay three yards apart, slow pace and DON'T TRIP!

After the speeches were over, the class song was sung and chills went racing down our spines as Keithon's voice carried higher and higher over the crowd! Of course each of us had totally different thoughts, but each knew this was only the beginning!

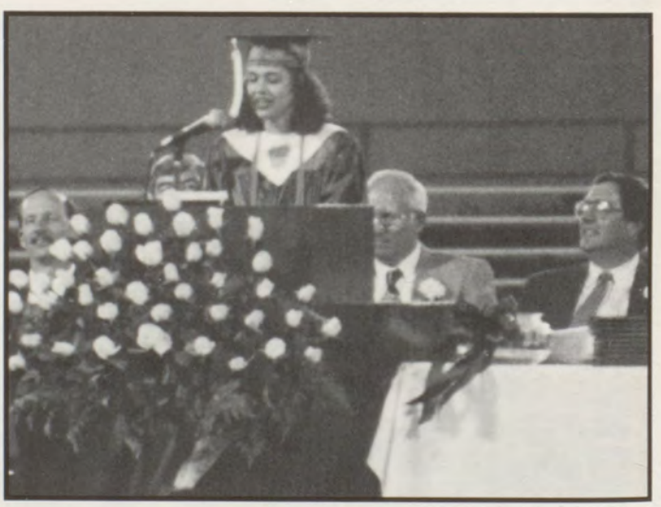

As we took those final steps, we realized it was our moment of glory because we had finally graduated. But, we've just begun our lives, and "We Haven't Finished Yet!"

Yes, I learned this in high school! Josh Schroeder expresses his feeling about graduation.

Waiting patiently. Gina Martin sits quietly during the ceremony.
Salutatorian. Matt Maruska enlightens us with his speech.
Cheeze! Jonathan Gonzalez is proud to receive his diploma.
Deep in thought. Jennifer Neitsch remembers the past four years.
Valedictorian. Diana Safarik tells the Class of 1995 where we are.

Heeey! Heather Haverland is really excited to receive her diploma.

Bradley Wade Schmidt!
I'm not letting go of this thing! Brent Svehlak holds on tight to his diploma.
We haven't finished yet! Keithon Gipson sings our class song more beautiful than ever.
Finally! Jennifer Ward walks away smiling.

Go Ruthita! Ruth Rivera is over joyed to get that diploma.
On the road to success! Kathy Baker begins the long journey to get her diploma.
Congratulations! Pam Clayton stops for a quick pic!
Proud and confident! Vincent McCabe receives his diploma.

Thank goodness! The year had finally ended. This brought tears to some and happiness to others, but when we brought up the Mallard, confetti went flying, hands were clapping and everyone is ecstatic! You see, putting together an awesome yearbook took three things; time, patience, and heart! Well, we know about a handful of us had the heart, thanks to Mrs. P. Now, the patience came and went! But, the time was never there. It seems like we spent every waking hour working on spreads or writing copy. But in the end, when all the boxes arrive filled to brim with your Mallards, the ones we created, you start to think that it was definitely all worth it!

We tried our best to cover everything that took place at our school, so when our grandchildren are sitting on our knees we can say been there, done that, and be able to prove it. We hope that our Mallards will help you carry those memories with you throughout your life. We worked long and hard on our creation, so we hope you enjoy it.

Now for the stuff not many of us care about. Our office is located at 3101 North Main in Taylor, Texas. Taylor Publishing Company, represented by the amazing Jim Anderson, is responsible for the publishing of these yearbooks. There will be 400 books, each consisting of 200 pages printed on 100 lb. paper. Special thanks to The Taylor Daily Press, Brian Smith, Mr. Ruthven, Mrs. Potts, Mr. Baylor, Dr. Smith, the School Board, and the understanding THS faculty. Most importantly our special thanks to Priscilla Parsons, who makes this book possible.
